To Tell Committee About Disaster to the Steamship Titanic

Cotton Mill Operatives Return to Their Places Today

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Vice President P. A. S. Franklin of the International Mercantile Marine Co. told the senate investigating committee today how he had asked to have the earlier reports of the Titanic disaster held up to avoid any unnecessary alarm. He denied any knowledge of the message addressed to Rep. Hughes of West Virginia about the ship being towed to Halifax and gave other details. Bit by bit he contributed to the evidence the senate is seeking to throw light on the catastrophe that sank the Titanic, the pride of the seas, which sent almost 1600 people to their death and plunged the world into mourning.

The inquiry christened the luxurious caucus room of the senate, regarded as perhaps the handsomest legislative hearing room in the world. In its center sat the sub-committee with William Alden Smith of Michigan presiding. Jammed about the long table which the committee occupied were witnesses and spectators. The hearing overshadowed all other congressional proceedings.

After declaring that officials of the White Star line had no knowledge of a misleading telegram to Mr. Hughes it was acknowledged by Mr. Franklin that he had issued reassuring statements when he had no facts on which to base them. Mr. Franklin was the first witness.

The witness read from a great sheaf of wireless telegrams received Monday morning. None of them contained any information of value but it was upon this data that the line issued its statements in an effort, said Mr. Franklin, to reassure inquirers. Later when the news came, he said, he sent immediately for the reporters and proceeded to begin to reading to them the long Marconigram from the Carpathia giving the gruesome news in considerable detail.

"I began to read," said Mr. Franklin, "Titanic went down this morning at 2.20 a. m. and then I looked up. There was not a reporter in the room. They were all racing for 'phones to get the news out to the world."

SURVIVORS TO TELL STORY OF THE TITANIC DISASTER

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The senate investigation of the Titanic disaster, begun in New York last week on the arrival of the Carpathia with the survivors of the wreck, was resumed here today with J. Bruce Ismay, president of the International Mercantile Marine Co., P. A. S. Franklin, vice-president of the White Star line, J. T. Cotton, wireless operator of the Carpathia, four officers and 26 sailors of the Titanic's crew waiting to be called as witnesses.

The hearings are being conducted in the caucus room, the splendidly fitted "show" room of the senate office building. Although Chairman William Alden Smith and Senator Newlands were the only members of the subcommittee of the senate commerce committee present when the preliminary testimony was taken in New York the full subcommittee will be in attendance at all the hearings here. The other members are Senators Perkins of California, Burton of Ohio, Bourne of Oregon, Simmons of North Carolina, and Fletcher of Florida.

Many of the Titanic's surviving passengers will be called to give evidence before the committee. It is expected that among the notable witnesses will be Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. J. B. Thayer, and Col. Archibald Gracie.

Hours before the resumption of the inquiry great crowds swarmed to the senate office building and made a rush for the crystal-enclosed caucus room. Hundreds of them were women and as in the Titanic disaster, it was "women first" who were admitted to the hearing room. Capitol police took charge of the arrangements and by 10 o'clock there were no available seats and standing room was exhausted. Even senators and representatives who sought to get places of vantage for members of their families were unable to do so. William Alden Smith, chairman of the subcommittee, reached the senate office building late and went into conference with Senators Newlands, Burton, Simmons and Fletcher. J. Bruce Ismay and P. A. S. Franklin arrived at the hearing room a few minutes before 10.30 o'clock and were ushered into seats reserved for witnesses.

By the time the senators were ready to proceed there was great confusion in the room. Many of the crowds turned away and went to other rooms in the senate office building and climbed out on the balconies. Then, when the great French windows of the hearing room were opened they climbed to the railings to look over the heads of the crowd within.

Mr. Ismay as he sat talking to his attorney, H. C. Burlingame and Vice President Franklin, appeared wan and haggard.

There had been a long delay before the first witness took the stand. Mr. Ismay, seated at the end of the table, chatted with J. P. Kirlin, one of the officials of the White Star line. Incessantly he drew upon a sheet of paper he had acquired from the press table. Always the sketch was faint of the White Star flag, such a flag as was flown at the point of the Titanic when it sailed to its doom. Just as the hearing was opened, Senator Smith said:

"The inquiry we are making is held by direction of the senate and for the purpose of ascertaining the complete facts connected with the unfortunate loss of the Titanic.

"We are not at all concerned about the convenience of visitors upon the hearing. We are concerned primarily to get the truth and I desire to tell each person here solely by sufferance of the committee and not for entertainment, that any expression of any character will not be permitted. Any violation of this will result in changing these arrangements. I bespeak courtesy and kindness for the witnesses."

Mr. Franklin described the business the senator continued. "Yes." Senator Smith then showed Mr. Franklin the telegram received by Congressman Hughes of West Virginia from the line dated "New York, April 15" and addressed to J. A. Hughes, Huntington, W. Va., as follows: "Titanic proceeding to Halifax. Passengers probably land on Wednesday. All safe."

(Signed) "The White Star line." "I ask you," continued the senator, "whether you know about the sending of that telegram?" "I do not, sir," said Franklin. "Since it was mentioned at the Wallfort Saturday we have had the entire passenger staff examined and we cannot find out. On that Monday many junior clerks were at work and there was great confusion. It is possible that some one who had no absolute information might have sent it. I wish you would have the telegraph company turn over all the White Star messages to you so that we can see just what happened."

Asked when he first knew that the Titanic had sunk, Franklin said that he first knew it at 6.20 Monday.

Mr. Franklin then produced a thick package of telegrams which he had received Sunday in relation to the disaster. "About 20 minutes of two o'clock Monday morning," said he, "awakened by a 'phone bell I was called by a reporter for some paper, who informed me that the Titanic had met with an accident and was sinking. I asked him where he got the information. He told me it had come by wireless from the steamer Virginian, which had been appealed to by the Titanic for aid."

Mr. Franklin said he called up the White Star docks but they had no information and he then appealed to the Associated Press and there was read to him a despatch from Cape Race advising of the accident. "I asked the Associated Press," said Mr. Franklin, "not to send out the despatch until we got further details in order to cause no unnecessary alarm. I was told, however, that the story already had been sent."

"Monday morning we were endeavoring to get information from Montreal. At 10.27 a. m. we got word from the Olympic announcing that at 9 a. m. she had been unable to raise the Titanic, was 310 miles south of her but would continue her effort to get into communication with her."

"Between noon and one o'clock on the 15th the following message was received from the Olympic: 'Parliamentary Carpathia in attendance picked up 20 boats with passengers, and Baltic returned. Position not given. Haddock Olympic.'"

The reassuring statements sent out by the line in the early hours of the disaster next were made the subject of inquiry.

"Tell the committee on what you based those statements," directed Senator Smith. "We based them on reports and rumors received at Cape Race by individuals and by the newspapers. They were rumors and we could not place our finger on anything authentic."

"Did you hear from the Carpathia at that time?" "No, sir."

Franklin declared that the Olympic was then dispatched that message: "Haddock Olympic. Returned here. Titanic sunk. Cannot confirm here. Expect Virginian alongside." "At 2.20 p. m. we wired Haddock to endeavor by all means to ascertain the whereabouts of Mr. Ismay and to advise us as soon as possible," continued Franklin. "We followed this despatch with another to Haddock in which we urged the utmost haste to ascertain condition of Titanic; advise us fully disposition Titanic's passengers and where they will be landed."

A Terrible Shock "At 6.20 and 6.30 Monday evening," Mr. Franklin continued, "a message was received telling the fate of the Titanic. The Carpathia reached the Titanic and found nothing but boats and wreckage; that the Titanic had foundered at 2.20 a. m. in 41.16 north, 50.14 west; that the Carpathia picked up all the boats and had on board about 675 Titanic's survivors, passengers and crew. This message was from Haddock also."

"It was such a terrible shock that it took me several moments to think what to do. Then I telephoned two of our directors, Mr. Steele and Mr. J. P. Morgan, Jr. Then I went downstairs to the reporters. I began to read the message, holding it high in my hand. I had read only to the second line, which said that the Titanic had sunk when there was not a reporter left. They were so anxious to get to the telephone."

"After that we got another message from Haddock stating that 'Yamsi, meaning Ismay, was on the Carpathia.' Mr. Franklin then explained how the company wired the Olympic to get the names of the survivors and to send by and relay them from the Carpathia. "I want to say that during the entire day on Monday after our first messages concerning the Titanic we considered the Titanic absolutely unsinkable. We never dreamed of such a thing and that there had been loss of life never entered our minds until we got Haddock's awful message at 6.30 that evening."

Wireless Telegrams "One by one, Mr. Franklin read the wireless telegrams from various ships."

After being idle for the past four weeks, the six cotton mills of this city opened their gates this morning, and nearly 15,000 operatives resumed their work with a grin of satisfaction, for they have won what they term a great victory, a ten per cent increase, and the settlement of many grievances which existed between the employees and employers. Despite the fact that the operatives have lost something in the vicinity of $400,000 in wages, they were cheerful when they entered the mill gates this morning.

The mill gates were opened at the usual hour this morning and the thousands of operatives went to work without the least sign of trouble. Police officers were on duty at each mill in case anything out of the ordinary should turn up, but their services were not required, for everybody was happy and there was not the least sign of trouble. The mill agents were also on hand early and they report that

All hope that some other vessel besides the Carpathia had picked up some of the Titanic's survivors was dissipated when the Olympic flashed word that neither the Baltic nor the Tuscan had any of Titanic's people aboard.

Senator Smith sought to discover who had been tampering with the wireless operators or had been responsible for the failure of the wireless to get the news to shore earlier. Mr. Smith repeatedly asked the witness whether he had not had a conference Monday morning with Mr. Marconi or with Mr. Sammis, chief engineer for the Marconi company.

"No, most emphatically," said the witness. "In no way did I attempt or cause to be attempted any censorship of the wireless."

"When you went aboard the Carpathia Thursday night," suggested Mr. Smith, "did you see either Mr. Marconi, Mr. Sammis or the operators?" "No, I did not. I went direct to the captain's room and asked to be shown to Mr. Ismay's room. It took me there. I talked with no one else."

Senator Smith inquired whether the witness was familiar with the workings of the wireless on the ships of the lines and if he knew what were the safety precautions on the same ships.

"No," he said. "We are really only agents for the line in America."

Asked about the insurance, Mr. Franklin said the company always carried insurance on ships. "What was the cost of the Titanic?" "One million, five hundred thousand and some odd pounds," said Mr. Franklin.

"How many passengers would the Titanic accommodate as you would operate it?" asked Senator Smith. "About 2500; 750 first cabin, as we load; 500 second class, 1200 third class. It depends entirely on how you load her."

The witness explained the difference in cost in various classes and said every effort was made to get the names of the third class passengers.

"Did you receive at any time from any officer of your company a request that the steamer Cedric be held at New York until the arrival of the Carpathia?"

"Yes, sir," said the witness, and began to read a telegram from the Carpathia.

"What time was it received?" "At 5.19," said the witness, who said mostly all their operatives are back to work, and all the departments are running full blast, and so, after four weeks of idleness, marked by excellent behavior on the part of the strikers, and by little poverty and hardship of any kind, the strike ended with everybody satisfied to resume work under the new conditions.

The strike started March 25 in the Appleton mills, when the operatives upon learning the amount of increase granted by the mill officials voiced their disapproval by leaving their work. The news of the strike was soon spread to the other mills, and before the day was over, all the other mills were practically crippled, so much so that every cotton mill closed its doors the next day. The employees of the Lawrence factory, however, were satisfied with the increase granted and remained at work.

On April 12, J. C. Wadleigh, president of the Lowell Manufacturers' Association, announced through The Sun an increase of 10 per cent. The United Textile Workers of America immediately accepted the increase, and voted to return to work on April 22, the time set by the agents for the reopening of the mills. The I. W. W., however, did not accept the increase until other grievances such as no discrimination, time and a quarter for overtime, the privilege to the weavers of weighing their own cloth and the recognition of shop committees, had been granted, and the official vote declaring the strike off was taken last Saturday afternoon on the South common at a mass meeting of all the nationalities.

The organizers of the I. W. W. will now leave for other centers, where they will continue their work, and it is probable that Manchester will be their next stopping place, where an endeavor will be made to organize the mill operatives.

MILLIONAIRE HUTCHINS DEAD

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Stilson Hutchins, millionaire philanthropist and retired journalist, died at his home here today of paralysis. He was born in Whitefield, N. H., in 1838. Mr. Hutchins began life as a reporter in Boston and later went to Iowa, where he had charge of papers in Des Moines and Dubuque. Soon after the Civil war he established the St. Louis Times, which he sold for what was regarded as a record price, when he came to this city to establish the Washington Post in 1877.

MANY PERSONS KILLED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 22.—A cyclone wind passed over Adamsville, Hanceville City, Jugtown, Brookside and several other mining towns in this district between four and five o'clock this morning. Incomplete reports say many persons were killed and a number hurt. Twenty houses were destroyed at Brookside.

The telegram asked that the Cedric be held because the service considered it "most desirable" that the members of the crew be sent back on the Cedric and declaring his intention of sailing on that ship himself. The sender also asked that clothing and shoes be brought to the dock for him when the Carpathia got in.

"By whom was that signed?" asked Mr. Smith.

"Yamsi." "Do you know who 'Yamsi' is?"

"Yes, sir. It is cipher for Mr. Ismay's signature. I sent in reply the following:

"Yamsi, Carpathia. Have arranged forward crew on Lapland, sailing Saturday, calling at Plymouth. We all consider most unwise to delay Cedric considering circumstances. Franklin."

"WOMEN ALL AT SEA"

There are thousands of women today entirely at sea, so to speak, as far as their ailments are concerned. Many are suffering in silence rather than consult a physician, while many others have sought advice and taken medicines without help and are literally discouraged.

Such women should remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be relied upon to act promptly and thoroughly in such cases. It strengthens the nervous and muscular system, restores the female system to a normal healthy condition.

A.O.H. BUILDING FUND

Lecture by Hon. D. I. Walsh on
Heritage of the Irish Race

Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan suggested a movement to raise $50,000 for A. O. H. building fund in fifty days, offering to subscribe $1000. He gave $100 as a starter. Mayor O'Donnell presided at the meeting.

At Associate hall last evening a lecture was delivered by Hon. David I. Walsh under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and in aid of the A. O. H. building fund. On the platform were His Honor Mayor O'Donnell and all the members of the municipal council, together with all the members of the school board except Mr. Rogers.

Mr. James O'Sullivan opened the meeting with a brief speech setting forth the objects of the meeting and predicting that in spite of any apparent spathy in the movement, the Ancient Order of Hibernians would yet have a building of its own.

The Bachelor club of thirty members sang several selections in grand style in solo and chorus. The club appeared at Keith's later in the evening.

Mr. Walsh discussed "The Heritage of the Irish Race," touching their love of freedom and their devotion to the faith of their fathers.

After Mr. Walsh, Alderman Cummings responded to the call of the chairman with a brief address offering encouragement to the movement.

Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan when called upon made a stirring speech urging decisive action. He offered to subscribe $1000 to the building fund on condition that $50,000 be raised in so many days. He put down $100 as a starter in the work. His remarks elicited much applause.

Mayor O'Donnell's Address
Mayor O'Donnell in assuming the chair said:

"We are assembled this evening on the eve of a great epoch in the world's history, the long hoped-for passage of the Irish Home Rule bill, and from the reports that are flashed daily across the ocean, Ireland's hopes were never brighter than at present. The hours seem ages as we wait in suspense for the glad news of the success of John Redmond, and the Irish party, but once it comes we will forgive the long suspense; yes, and the centuries of sufferings though we will never forget them, for the greatest glory of a free-born people is to transmit that freedom to their children. A philosopher once said that countries are cultivated, not as they are fertile, but as they are free and hence under Home Rule, a bright and prosperous industrial future must follow. In Ireland the sad plight under which Ireland has labored has been the world's pain for it has sent Irish blood, Irish intelligence and energy, Irish honesty and Irish pluck and perseverance to the four quarters of the globe and they have assimilated and become an important factor in the progress of the world. To America has been given the lion's share of Ireland's emigration and all the pursuits of war or peace in this country Ireland's sons and their children have been over in the forefront. Tonight we are gathered to listen to a discourse by one of the foremost citizens of this commonwealth, a man whom we hope to meet in person, the distinguished and honorable title of 'Your Excellency'; a gentleman and a scholar of Irish blood and breeding and a credit to both. His name as a speaker has preceded him to Lowell and hence I shall not take up your time with any further remarks of an introductory nature but will perform a most pleasing duty, in presenting as the speaker of the occasion, the Hon. David I. Walsh, of Clinton."

Mr. Walsh's Address
Mr. Walsh received a most cordial greeting. He spoke in part as follows:

"Every Irish heart bounds with joy and pride as he recalls the glories of his race at home and in exile. We give thanks to our ancestors, not riches, nor fame, nor power; but the Cross, the emblem of Christ, the symbol of Christianity. And why not? What conquering hero, what great scholar, brought brighter gems or left a mightier legacy than that which Patrick brought and left to Ireland. The long messenger of truth who over fifteen hundred years ago came to Ireland, brought to our land the very same message that Christ four hundred years before had brought to Jerusalem.

"Hence it is most fitting that at the very outset of my address I should ask you to join in reverencing his name. I am proud to speak of the Irish race, but how can I fully do it? I cannot speak as one born in the bosom of that old land; neither can I speak as one who has witnessed her terrible persecutions, nor can I speak as one of her exiles.

St. Patrick brought the word of God to a Pagan people and planted the cross where Christian foot had never trod.

When he died they were not the same people. They were transformed and filled with an apostolic zeal. Their children overflowed the mainland of Europe, and for many centuries no figures are so familiar on the highways and by-ways of Europe as the wandering Irish missionaries. From the fifth to the eighth century the Irish monks were the leaders of Christian thought. Such was the glory of ancient Ireland, to be extinguished by successive waves of plundering invasion. By rapid and ruthless invasions the Northernmen overran the island. They destroyed the institutions of learning, schools and libraries with their priceless manuscripts were burned and Irish civilization all but extinguished.

After two hundred years of foreign invasion, the dauntless spirit of the race asserted itself. The Danes were decisively routed early in the eleventh century and with the restoration of Irish law, literature, art and religion awoke to new life. Once more Irish missionaries penetrated barbarian Europe. Everything promised a permanent revival of civilization. But the country was not permitted to work out its own destinies.

The English invasions began and Ireland was doomed to seven hundred years of unrest, of oppression and persecution. The wars that followed were wars not of conquest, but of extermination. The story of the systematic butchery that followed during these centuries shocks the reader of history with their records of savagery. We marvel that the race survived at all.

The vast majority of them, professing the condemned Catholic faith, had neither land nor wealth nor political power nor fair standing before the law. Only a common misery and a common hatred toward England united them.

Ever since the English in that 12th century started their expedition to conquer Ireland, they have tried, and tried vainly, to crush among the Irish the spirit of rebellion against tyranny. From that day to this, our people have been killed with famine, shot down by soldiers, hanged, castrated, bullied, threatened, flattered, but the light has gone on and today the Irish question is the foremost before the British people.

The nineteenth century offered little hope. Ireland was now to be ruled by Englishmen at Westminster, who had no knowledge of the country's needs and no sympathy with the people or her institutions. Meanwhile, a disaster infinitely greater smote the Irish people, the appalling famine of 1847 to '50, with its ghastly record of starvation, eviction, and emigration. By tens and by hundreds of thousands the people perished of hunger and fever. The strong flocked from the country in a never ending stream. The weak dropped in their tracks and died by the roadside. The number killed by hunger was estimated at 750,000. Between 1848 and 1852 over a quarter of a million families were evicted and between 1847 and 1851, 1,250,000 were exiled.

Ireland reduced from the center of European learning to a poverty stricken, shackled bound province, she has refused to be conquered and still refuses the right of any race or power to rule Ireland against the will of Irishmen. Other lands have long ago accepted the declaration of the conqueror, adopted his religion, and obeyed his laws, because they felt his power could not be overcome. Not so with our race. As it has been for centuries past, it is still the same, for in England and still the great question is the Irish question, and England now knows that that question will never be settled until it is settled right—in favor of freedom and of justice.

Two emigrants of '48 and the years following had scarcely been settled here when, hearing their country's call, they left home, comfort, and all that a man holds dear in life, to defend her honor. In the battle field where the cannon roared and the dead and dying were strewn about him, he was a soldier who knew no danger. Without the Irish patriots in the Civil war, the history of the Irish in America would have been a different story and the history of this republic and its accomplishments would have been the least glorious.

The work of today and tomorrow is the struggle of races and of men for place in the great workshops of the world. The men of Irish nationality must not only give, and continue to give, the youth to nerve in the ranks of the clergy, in the professions, in the business, and in the industrial and commercial life, but they must all be men who shall in no manner be inferior to the best in American life; and above all, when a call comes to the men of Irish blood to serve their fellow men in public office, then let no man dare to represent us unless he has a true representative of the best heart and mind and conscience of our race.

Who values wealth more than honesty, rank more than character, amusement more than improvement, ease more than reform, falls below the highest standard of his countrymen. Upon the conscience of every man and every woman in this country who is called to represent us, is laid the weight of obligation to certify the success of our great inheritance and to certify the fitness of the men of our race to self government.

But should our young men be encouraged to enter politics? The word politician is not a respected name in America today. In many quarters the difference between the title politician and statesman depends upon ancestry and wealth rather than upon usefulness as a public servant. I fear the distinction between the activity of citizens of foreign blood in politics and that of the men who represent wealth has resulted in proclaiming the men of recent foreign ancestry as politicians, while the son of indoled wealth often, regardless of his ability, earns the title of statesman.

Our religion teaches us that the country's claim upon the heart and conscience of the citizen is as imperative as its claim upon the body and the mind. What better example of the need of men of heart than is presented in the solution of the great public question of the hour?

How is the great struggle between capital and labor to be finally and satisfactorily settled except by awakening the conscience of the employer to the inalienable rights of the workingmen to receive an honest and decent livelihood for himself and his family, and by arousing the conscience of the workingman to an appreciation of the rights of honest capital to be protected?

No American can share in the blessings of our free institutions and have any doubt concerning the need of conscience and religion for the administration and preservation of our liberties.

How is the great struggle between Ireland and English government to be finally settled except by arousing the conscience of the English to the fact that "just government depends on the consent of the governed."

In these days, when stories in many cases true, of dishonesty and dishonesty in public, in business and professional life are rife, it is being borne in on the people with ever increasing force that the future life of the nation, its success or failure, does not depend on the culture, the brilliancy, the talent, the ability, of its leaders in legislation or business life but on the restoration, preservation, and development of the virtues that made our ancestors, both Puritan and Celt—God-fearing, honest Christian people.

How shall we satisfy ourselves except by our inherited faith when we penetrate the atmosphere of doubt which surrounds us on all sides? The people of all the civilized nations of the world are feeling its touch. Indeed it is shaking the very foundations of human society. Many descendants of the Puritan and the Pilgrim, long noted for their intense and strict religious fervor, today are doubting all revelations, the Cross, the Bible, and the church.

We must show ourselves worthy of our Irish inheritance and hand down to those who come after us all those virtues and blessings unchanged and unimpaired, so that those who follow us may bless our memory as we bless the memory of those who have gone before us.

And we must do it as they did it. They have taught us that the true life here below is to be workmen, and that we are to work for others. So we of the present generation must be workmen; our work is no longer to be confined to the menial labor of our ancestors, but we are to bring the virtues of industry, of honesty, of courage, of perseverance into whatever avocation of endeavor we may be called to follow, remembering that our business and our profession may be what it will, but to enter into the true spirit of life, our efforts must be helpful to the masses of men around us, whose life, liberty and happiness are, in a degree, in our keeping.

The great Irish monk, Father Burke, has defined our duties for us in these ringing words: "Be true to your religion; be true to your fatherland; be true to your families and to yourselves; be true to the glorious republic that opened her arms to receive you and gave you the rights of citizenship; be true to America."

LOWELL STARTS WELL

Defeated Lynn in Opening Game by Score of 10 to 8

There were about three thousand people present at the formal opening of the New England baseball season in this city Saturday when Lowell and Lynn met at Spaulding park. It was expected that the official opening of the season would take place Friday morning but owing to the inclement weather it was decided to postpone the game. Lowell was to have played Lawrence in the afternoon but when the Grays went to Lawrence it was found that the grounds were in very poor condition and therefore the formal opening took place Saturday.

About 3 o'clock a procession of players and officials of the municipal council marched from the grand stand to the centre field fence where the United States flag was raised while the band played the Star Spangled Banner. At the conclusion of the selection the procession marched back to the grand stand and the members of the municipal council got into harness and demonstrated their ability as baseball players.

Mayor James E. O'Donnell took his place on the pitcher's mound and James E. Donnelly went behind the bat. Lawrence Cummings was on first, Andrew E. Barrett went to short and George H. Brown was on the third base. Capt. Jack Boultles went to bat and batted out flies and red hot lines and foul flies but none of the members of the council were able to recover the sphere.

It was shortly after the preliminary practice parade and tryout of the members of the council that Umpire Kerin called the game.

First Inning
Zetser's wildness in the first inning resulted in Lynn scoring three runs. The local pitcher was very erratic and three of the members of the visiting team reached the initial bag as a result of being hit by the pitcher.

Wallace, the first man to face Zetser, cracked a fly which Rising gathered in. Strands drew a free pass. Cargo singled to right field and Strands traveled to third. Keefe hit in front of the plate and Lavigne slammed the ball to Wright but the latter dropped the sphere and the runner was safe. Strands scored on the error. McGovern got hit by a pitched ball and went to first and Logan went out on a foul fly to Lavigne. Morris got hit by a pitched ball and went to first. Cargo scored on a no-play. Weeden was the third man to be hit by a pitched ball and Keefe scored. Ward struck out. McGovern tried to score from third and was caught at the plate.

In the latter half of the inning the home team failed to send a man across the plate. De Groff drew a free pass and went to third on a bad throw to catch him at second. Rising struck out. Magee hit to Logan who threw home, getting De Groff at the plate. Magee stole second and Wright drew a base on balls but Boultles closed the inning by flying to Strands.

Score—Lowell 0, Lynn 3.

Second Inning
Lynn failed to score in the first half of the second inning. Wallace hit to Wolfgang and was retired at first. Strands got a two-bagger to right field and was called while trying to steal third. Lavigne throwing him out. Cargo got a free pass but Keefe was third out on a fly to Boultles.

In the latter half of the inning Nye fouled to McGovern. Wolfgang fled to Keefe and Lavigne hit to Ward and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, Lynn 3.

Third Inning
Nothing for the visitors in the first half of the third. McGovern struck out. Logan fled to Rising and Morris fled to Wolfgang.

Lowell turned the tables on the visitors in the latter half of the third by knocking out four runs. It was a batting carnival in every sense of the word and as a result of the heavy stick work the Lowell's Ward was taken out of the box and Harrington substituted. Zetser was the first man up and he singled to centre field. De Groff followed with another single by short and when Rising knocked out a two-bagger to right field Zetser scored. Magee made another two-bagger and De Groff and Rising scored. At this point Ward was taken out of the box and Harrington substituted. Wright struck out. Boultles hit to Harrington and was out at first. Magee going to third. Magee then stole home. Nye closed the inning by striking out.

Score—Lowell 4, Lynn 3.

Fourth Inning
Lynn scored a run in the fourth inning which tied the score. Weeden sent a grounder to Wright and was out at first. Harrington hit to Boultles who threw to first and the runner was out. Wallace sent the ball to centre field for three bases and scored on Wolfgang's overthrow to the plate. Strands singled to the pitcher but Cargo was third out on a fly to Rising.

Lowell scored two runs in the latter half of the inning. Wolfgang got a free pass and Lavigne fled to Wallace. Zetser walked. De Groff hit in Cargo and Wolfgang was thrown out at third. Rising knocked out a two-bagger to right field, scoring Zetser and De Groff. Magee was third out on a fly to Morris.

Score—Lowell 6, Lynn 4.

Fifth Inning
Lynn failed to score in the first of the fifth. Keefe started off with a fly to Boultles and McGovern followed with a base on balls. The latter went to second when Wright dropped the ball. Logan fled to Rising, the latter making a pretty running catch. Rising threw the ball to Wolfgang and McGovern was out at second.

Lowell scored three runs in the latter half of the fifth. Wright opened with a single to centre field and stole second. Boultles hit a high fly over third and was safe. Wright going to third. Boultles stole second. Nye singled to left field and Wright scored. Nye stole second. Wolfgang fled to Keefe and Boultles made a tally. Lavigne singled to left field and Nye scored. Zetser struck out and Lavigne was caught while trying to steal second.

Score—Lowell 9, Lynn 4.

Sixth Inning
Lynn scored two runs in the sixth inning. Morris was the first man up. He went out on a fly to Magee. Weeden walked. Harrington hit to centre field for three passes and Weeden scored. Wallace singled to centre field and Harrington scored. Wallace tried to steal second and was thrown out. Strands singled to centre field. Cargo hit to Wolfgang who threw to second, getting Strands.

Lowell failed to score in the latter half of the sixth. De Groff singled to right field and went to second on Rising's sacrifice. Magee hit to Harrington who threw to Cargo and the latter threw to Logan. The ball was sent back to Harrington who got De Groff. Third. Magee going to second. Wright struck out.

Score—Lowell 9, Lynn 6.

Seventh Inning
Keefe singled. McGovern hit to Zetser and was out at first. Keefe going to second. Logan drew a free pass. Morris hit to Nye who threw to Wolfgang getting Logan and Wolfgang sent the ball to first for a double play.

In the latter half of the inning Boultles opened with a fly to McGovern. Nye bunted safely. Wolfgang hit to Cargo who threw to Logan getting Nye at second. Wolfgang went to third on a passed ball. Lavigne singled, scoring Wolfgang. Zetser hit to Morris who threw to Logan, getting Lavigne at second.

Score—Lowell 10, Lynn 6.

Eighth Inning
In the eighth inning Weeden hit to De Groff who dropped the ball. Harrington followed with a single to centre field. Wallace singled to right field but Harrington was caught at second. Strands hit to Zetser and was out at first. Cargo drew a free pass and Keefe followed with a single which scored Weeden and Wallace. At this point in the game Maybom relieved Zetser. McGovern hit to Maybom and died at first.

Groff started off the latter half of the inning by flying to Wallace. Rising did likewise. Magee went out. Harrington to McGovern.

Score—Lowell 10, Lynn 8.

Ninth Inning
Logan struck out. Morris fled to Magee. Weeden was the third man out. Maybom to Wright.

DIAMOND NOTES

Secretary Morse of the New England league was present at Saturday's game and was well pleased with the showing of both teams.

There was some class to the municipal council team. They had five gloves.

When Old Glory was raised at the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" every one on the grandstand with hat in hand. At the conclusion of the ceremony the applause was deafening.

"Jack" Beckwith, one of the best baseball cartoonists in the business, who is on the Lynn team, was present at the game and snapped many pictures.

Lowell started well and the team looks great.

Capt. Boultles played a fine game at third. He also watched every player and was up and at all the time.

As Cooney is "holding out" Wolfgang went in at short and despite the fact that he made one error, he played a good game. Wolfgang is a valuable man in all departments.

Lowell went south today but will be back with us Wednesday.

Wolfgang got Capt. McGovern's goal when he pulled the old "hiding the ball trick" on him.

Pop Rising played an excellent game. He made a beautiful catch in the field, and at the bat he was there strong, getting two fine two-baggers when they were needed.

Morris at short for the Lynn team appeared to be rather slow at getting after the ball.

Wallace, at centre field for the visitors made a very spectacular catch when he drove for a hot one from De Groff's bat in the eighth. It was some catch and he was awarded a great hand. Wallace was also there with the willow.

Nye and De Groff, two of the new men on the team, look like regulars. They are experienced players and are there with the willow.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Young Suffolk Club baseball team of West Centerville had a great week, as they defeated the young Lowell 3 to 6, the Young Detroit by a score of 7 to 3 and Saturday afternoon defeated the champion "Get There" team by a score of 5 to 2. The pitching of Lee Dowling and Clarence Chenevort brought victory to the Young Suffolk Club. We would like to hear from any team under ten years of age. Write to our manager, Raymond Garver, 66 Lilley avenue.

The Y. M. C. A. Independents opened the season with a victory over the Lincoln team at Lincoln park, on Saturday afternoon. The final score was 10 to 6. The features were the batting of Sauer, and the all around work of the winners.

The Pony baseball team would like to arrange a game for Saturday, April 27, with any strong team. Address all challenges to Wm. Kilbride, 14 Stanley street, City.

The lineup of the Indians in the game against Westford last Saturday when they defeated them 10 to 6, included Frank Callahan, p., Rollwell Smith, c., James Ducey 1b, John Black 2b, William Moehle 3b, Cornelius Connolly ss, Herbert Taylor lf, Colburn cf, and Albert Gumb rf. The features of the game was the double play by Black.

The Eliot Boy Scout baseball team visited Pelham on Saturday afternoon and defeated the Pelham scout team by the score of 6 to 0. The lineup of the Eliots was: E. Edwards c., Weir p., Hillen lb, Clark 2b, Peters ss, Orrill 3b, Cadellie cf, Ecclestonie cf, Pickering rf, and Thompson, Bennett and Coulhard. The lineup of the Pelham boys was: Burton 3b, Livingston ss, Herbert rf, Greely lb, Doherty lf, Duclunne 2b, Kohler c, Burtt c, and F. Greely p.

Wheeler and Hillman substitutes. Weir struck out H, and Greely had 11 strikeouts to his credit. The Eliots play North Chelmsford, a league game next Saturday.

The Suburban league started its all summer league contest for the silver cups on Saturday afternoon. Cambridge of North Chelmsford won from the Chelmsford Centre boys by the close score of 10 to 9. The Granville was won handsily from the strong Mystics of North Chelmsford by the score of 12 to 2. The game was played in Granville. The Westford team played the Y. M. C. A. Indians on the Duxwell grounds and were defeated by the score of 10 to 6.

The Riversides and the Pawtucket Grays met on the North common Saturday afternoon. The Grays winning in a fast game, 10 to 6. The features —King Solomon.

The victims of Rheumatism all tell the same story: they have sore, inflamed muscles and stiff, aching joints; they have no ambition or strength, and get nervous and irritable, which is not so much the result. We realize they much they suffer.
"Nurib" a prescription free from Opium and Narcotics, will banish all aches and pains, and limber up those sore and inflamed muscles, or your money will be refunded.
We realize that there are worthless and dangerous remedies which are sold as cure-alls by the help of manufactured testimonials, whose object is to extract gold. "Nurib" purports to give relief, and is a genuine and safe remedy as a specific remedy for those only who suffer from Rheumatism, Sciatica or Neuritis.

FIRST REUNION

Of Graduates of St. Joseph's College

A very large number of young men were in attendance at the second general meeting of the Association des Anciens Eleves du College St. Joseph, which was held in the college hall yesterday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by the president Wilfred P. Caisse, Jr., who called to order at 2:30 o'clock, and considerable business was transacted, among which was the election of an honorary president, Rev. Bro. Chrysostom of Montreal, Que., being the unanimous choice of the assembly.

The suggestion came from Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I., and was received with tremendous applause, for Bro. Chrysostom was the first director of the college.

The secretary's report was read and accepted without discussion, and it was in brief as follows:

All the officers, including the board of directors, are elected temporarily. The directors, in a meeting, decided to hold the annual meeting and banquet on Aug. 15; the convention to consist of an outing to be held in the afternoon and the day to wind up with a banquet in St. Joseph's college hall in the evening. This function is planned to be of the best, as for the first time, it is planned to set a high standard as possible. There will be present, several alumni from out of town and a number of speakers. A program will be issued in order to defray part of the expenses and more, for the object of the association does not stop at an annual banquet. It plans to be of the utmost benefit to the members and to St. Joseph's college. Indeed, there is every indication that the association is the parish for more than 500 names have been given in all, and although every one of these is not certain, the number to be enrolled for the first year will surely exceed 500.

A recruiting committee of fifteen was appointed by the chair to interview the former pupils of the college who have not as yet signed the register, and induce them to join the organization. The committee is as follows: Arthur L. Enn, Wilfred Aubin, Henry Simard, Edmond Bailey, Napoleon Mist, Alfred Harpout, Arthur Giron, P. Cossette, Calixte Lemire, Ernest Gagne, Auguste Denarais, Rodrigue Turgeon, Desire Chaput, Al Jutra, C. E. Boerke.

The committee held a meeting at Rodock's home, residence in Allen street last night.

Rev. Joseph Blais, O. M. I., suggested the organization of a baseball team and the matter was left to him.

Antonio Daigault was authorized to organize and present dramas twice a year, the proposition having been made by Rev. Fr. Blais.

At the close of the meeting interesting remarks were given by Rev. Julien Broette, O. M. I., chaplain of the association. Rev. Bro. O. M. I., Joseph E. Montminy and many others including Rev. Bro. Bernardin, director of the college, who said the provincial of the order is in the state and had promised that every former pupil of the college who is in the Marist order, would be present at the annual meeting which will be held on August 15. He also stated Rev. Bro. Chrysostom would be present as well as the following brothers who have taught at the college: Rev. Bro. Prichard, who is now at the parochial school of St. Mary; Rev. Brother Marie Schvay of Manchester; Rev. Brother Louis Raphael of Lawrence and Rev. Brother Numa of St. Anne's academy.

MICHAEL O'BRIEN

ASSISTING THE CLERK OF THE POLICE BOARD

Michael O'Brien, of the city messenger's department has been assigned to assist John J. Flaherty, of the license commission, and assumed his new duties this morning.

Heretofore Inspector Frank Fox, during his leisure time, assisted the clerk, but when Mayor O'Donnell protested against the police department paying Mr. Fox, inasmuch as the latter had been assisting in a department, other than that of the police, Mr. Fox was relieved of his duties in that connection and now does police work.

Over 100 hours of work in the office of the license commission at the present time Clerk Flaherty is in need of assistance and Commissioner Cummings assigned Mr. O'Brien to assist the clerk.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Wanameth lodge, No. 25, Knights of Pythias, will be the guests of Bay State lodge of Boston next Thursday evening. The trip has long been anticipated by local Pythians as Bay State lodge is noted for its hospitality and there is no doubt of the enjoyable entertainment. Wanameth lodge will receive.

The party will leave Middle street station next Thursday evening at 7:15. Wanameth lodge will be accompanied by Butler Amfex Co. unless otherwise advised. The event will be made memorable by the presentation of a beautiful framed set of resolutions to Deputy Isaac W. McArthur of Wanameth lodge.

The committee in charge of the trip is A. H. Abbott, past chancellor; Joseph P. Rourke, past chancellor; C. S. Trask, past chancellor; L. E. Berry, past chancellor; W. D. Jones & Co., past chancellor. Any brother wishing to make this trip is recommended to make his reservation to the committee early in the week.

To be Consecrated Bishop Next Thursday

Providence, April 22.—The arrangements for the consecration here of Rev. Austin Dowling rector of S. S. Peter and Paul's cathedral of this city, as bishop of Des Moines, Ia., on Thursday next were completed last night.

The ecclesiastical gifts are said to be the most costly ever made here. There are two croziers of gold with precious stones emblematic of the bishop's office. The crozier of the bishop in enamel is a part of the work. The bishop's ewer and tray have a hammered Gothic foliage and shield design. All the gifts are from Mr. and Mrs. William B. McGilroy of Providence and their son and daughter.

The installation program will be elaborate. Bishop Hawkins will be the consecrating bishop. Bishop James Davis, Davenport, Ia., will be the senior assistant, and Bishop Louis S. Walsh of Portland, Me., the junior assistant. Bishop J. Henry Thien of Lincoln, Neb., will attend.

The sermon will be preached by Archbishop James John Keane of Duxbury, a friend of the bishop-elect. The consecration will be the third in S. S. Peter and Paul's cathedral in the past 25 years.

CARDS OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, take this means of expressing publicly our sincere thanks to our kind relatives, neighbors and friends, who by their many acts of kindness, words of consolation and beautiful floral offerings, helped to lighten the burden of sorrow in the death of our beloved son.

To each and all we are especially grateful and will ever remember their sympathetic kindness. Signed,
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker and family.

What the Internal Bath Is Doing for Humanity

Under our present mode of living the large intestine (or colon) cannot get rid of all the waste that it accumulates. So it clogs up and then biliousness, constipation is the result, and that lack of desire to do, to work, to think.

This waste in the colon, as we all know, is extremely poisonous, and if neglected, the blood takes up the poison and brings on countless very serious diseases—appendicitis is directly caused by waste in the colon.

If the colon is kept clean and pure you will always feel bright and capable—never tired and nervous—always up to "concert pitch."

There is just one Internal Bath which will keep the colon as sweet and clean as Nature demands it to be for perfect health—that is the J. B. L. Cascado.

Many thousands are using it and doctors prescribing it with great success all over the world. It is now being shown and explained by the Riker-James Drug Store in Lowell.

END OF THE MILL STRIKE

The mill strike through which we have passed developed no great excitement. It was entirely devoid of the turbulent features that marked the Lawrence strike, but it kept the mills and all their 20,000 operatives in idleness. If the mills needed a shut-down to even up with the market, it is all very well. They may have gained rather than lost by the suspension, but we do not believe so. We believe, and in fact we know, that some of the mills lost heavily by the strike. As for the operatives, the strike cost them about $100,000, and with the ten per cent. increase it will take them just forty weeks, to regain what they have lost. They can then start to realize the advantage of the strike.

All this argues against strikes and in favor of other methods of settling industrial disputes. The Canadian method by which all such disputes must be settled before a strike or a lockout can be declared affords the best remedy yet devised. It is just what we need in this state in order to prevent professional agitators from coming along and working up a strike that will cause a very general suspension of business in a large number of factories. It would help the labor organizations as well as the mills, and there is no reason why we should not have it this year. Such an arrangement would throw the board of arbitration and conciliation out of a job but that board has long ago outlived its usefulness.

The public street parade, marking the close of the strike was a very orderly and creditable demonstration. Turnouts of that kind will hurt nobody and will never be objected to by anybody.

The Greek operatives of Lowell will hereafter be respected on account of their conservative course during the mill strike. They avoided all demonstrations where trouble might result and hence they have convinced the people of Lowell that they are not ready to form the tail to any revolutionary kite.

THE TURCO-ITALIAN WAR

The determination of Italy to force the entrance to the Dardanelles is difficult to understand. The aim may be to bring Turkey to terms and thus hasten peace or else to cause the European powers to interpose and settle the trouble. Italy finds it difficult to hold Tripoli as the Turks and Arabs keep up a continued resistance wherever they can. The Dardanelles is overlooked by high hills on which batteries are mounted and the waters are thickly set with mines so that Italy assumes serious risks when she enters the Bosphorus. Should the Italian fleet attempt to blockade Constantinople, Turkey might not be able to make much resistance, but on the other hand Italy would never be able to land troops and hold the advantage she had won. The Turks are good fighters on land but they have no fleet to protect their capital. There are forts, however, that might damage an attacking fleet; but the European powers scarcely give Italy the credit for having determined upon such a large undertaking. The fact appears to be that Italy would be glad to find some honorable means of ending the war, but Turkey is not ready to accept her terms, believing that Italy cannot force her to accept. It is this point perhaps that is involved in the Italian attack upon the Dardanelles.

WORKING OVERTIME

The Cunard liner Carpathia had but one wireless operator aboard, and had he not worked overtime he would not have received the call from the Titanic. He was ten minutes at his post after the time at which he was supposed to quit, and but for his presence the message would not have been caught.

In this there is a lesson for young men who hold responsible positions. He who quits a few minutes before the appointed time is not nearly so valuable, other things being equal, as he who waits a little longer. It is only a matter of minutes but sometimes as in the case quoted a matter of minutes may save numerous lives.

The city of Newark, N. J., has adopted a new ordinance imposing a penalty for anyone who misuses the auto horn on the public streets. It requires that every automobile shall be equipped with an adequate signal and defines such a signal as one producing an "abrupt note, sufficiently loud to be heard under all conditions of traffic," but restricts its use to times when it is "necessary as a warning of danger."

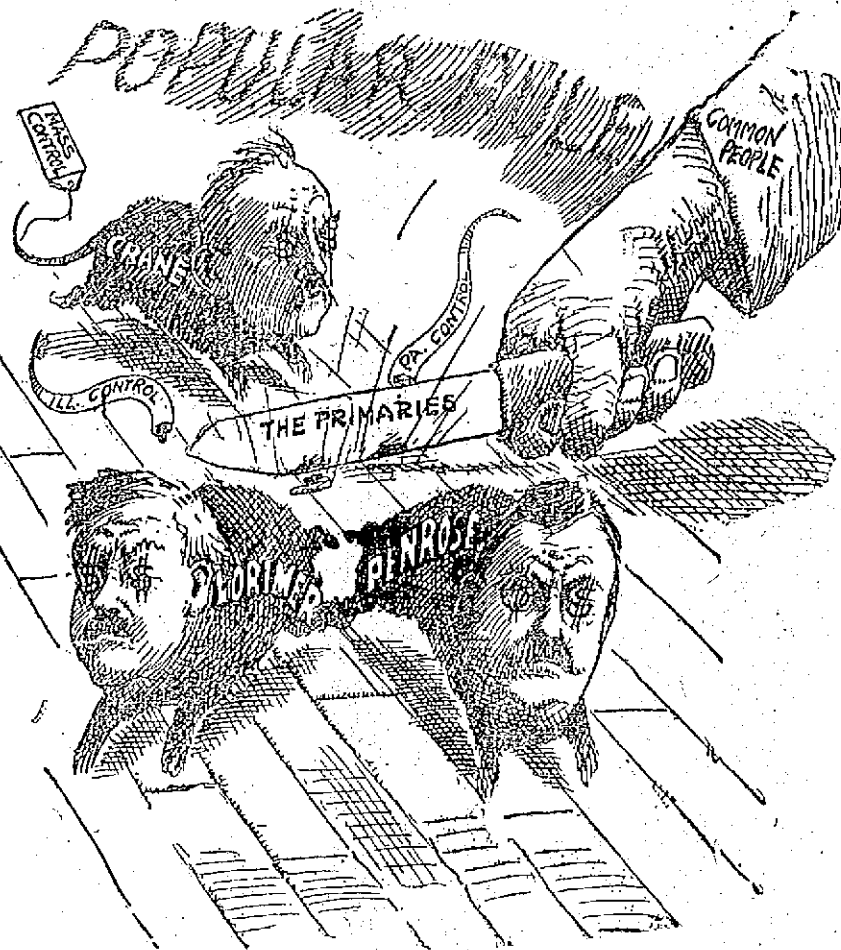

The senate committee has elicited enough damaging testimony from Ismay and others to prove beyond a doubt that but for the mania for speed urged upon Captain Smith by an official of the company, ordinary precaution against accidents would have been adopted. As it was not only Ismay but the captain seemed satisfied to take the desperate chance. The disaster is the inevitable result.

The Marconi wireless system must be regulated by law to prevent a lot of accidents from sending out false and misleading messages that sometimes make it impossible for agencies to distinguish the false from the genuine. The time will come when there will be a law against the sending out of any message that would interfere with the legitimate use of the system by land or sea.

The "women first rule" was carried to an absurd extreme in sending out the lifeboats from the Titanic. Some were sent off not half filled while men were begging an opportunity to get in. But for this blunder 350 additional might have been saved.

This annual like by the military companies serves only to leave some of them so lame that they will be of little use for several weeks. Some may be injured for life by the struggle to beat their competitors.

The Titanic brought with her to the depths many real heroes and among these the names of Major Butt, John Jacob Astor, Jacques Futelle, Isidor Straus, George B. Widener and many others.

WHY YOUR BABY CRIES

It is his way of saying, "I am uncomfortable." Very likely he is choked or sore—maybe his back itches. Dust him over with Comfort Powder, and if it's any skin irritation that bothers him he'll quiet down quickly.

This is a healing toilet powder, as different from common talcums as cream is different from skimmed milk. Trained nurses and doctors know it is best—so do babies, for it stops all chafing, heats sores and rashes, and is harmless. See that signature E. S. Sykes is on the box you buy.

Joseph Kaufman has a better collection of songs this season than he ever had. "Lord Have Mercy on the Married Man," "Rah for the Red, White and Blue," "Father Sees Us Twice a Year," and "I'm Surprised, That's All" are four of the convulsion variety. One of the funniest of Dockstader's pieces of business this season is his stories on "Uncle George." It is entirely original, full of Dockstader individuality, and the stories run along to the accompaniment of unrestrained laughter. DOCKSTADER'S MINSTRELS
"Low Dockstader's Great Minstrels" which are conceded to be the first minstrels in the land, will make their annual tour in the local theatres, at the Opera House today.

Mr. Dockstader has made many friends in this city by the high standard of entertainment and intermittent furnished by himself and his excellent company of musicians, singers and dancers. In this season's offering Dockstader has, it is said, surpassed all his former efforts in color and grandeur. Low Dockstader, the man who has made millions of people laugh, has a better collection of songs this season than he ever had. "Lord Have Mercy on the Married Man," "Rah for the Red, White and Blue," "Father Sees Us Twice a Year," and "I'm Surprised, That's All" are four of the convulsion variety. One of the funniest of Dockstader's pieces of business this season is his stories on "Uncle George." It is entirely original, full of Dockstader individuality, and the stories run along to the accompaniment of unrestrained laughter. Nell O'Brien, the grotesque and ludicrous funmaker, who has made millions of people laugh, has a better collection of songs this season than he ever had.

SCRATCHING IS DANGEROUS
People afflicted with eczema and other skin troubles, try to get relief by scratching, which not only aggravates the trouble, but also increases the risk of infection. Apply a little Cadum, and the itching will stop. Cadum is soothing and healing to inflamed, irritated or diseased skin. It is antiseptic, and when applied to a scratch, sore or wound, prevents infection from disease germs. It acts quickly upon eczema, pimples, sores, ulcers, rash, rough skin, scalp sores, chafings, itching piles, etc. Of druggists, 10c and 25c per box.

an absence of two years is again an added feature of the show. The company includes, in addition to Dockstader and O'Brien, Manuel Roman, Roy La Pearl, "Les" Copeland, "Happy" Naulty, Master Lee, Henry De Cune, Don Hernandez, Major Nowak, John Daly, Pete Deitzel and sixty other well known burlesque artists. There will be a grand street parade at high noon.

"THE OLD TOWN"
"Old wine needs no bush," and while antiquity is by no means the dominant quality of the brand of entertainment which Montgomery and Stone offer in George Ade's whimsical musical comedy, "The Old Town," past performance has so pleasantly presented the two comedians to the local public that laughing memories and the mouth to ear recommendation of Lowell friends and neighbors is sufficient re-introduction for both the artists and the newest vehicle in which they have appeared. Mr. Charles Dillingham, whose name is always a guarantee of a beautiful "production" and a bang up good show, announces the engagement of Montgomery and Stone in "The Old Town" at the Opera House tomorrow night. The cast for "The Old Town" embraces the names of most of the favorites who won Boston's enthusiastic approval last season.

"EXCUSE ME"
Having proved itself the laughing hit of the season in New York, "Excuse Me," Rupert Hughes' episodic farce will now add to the festivity of playgoers. The Henry W. Savage success is scheduled to begin its local engagement upon Saturday, April 27, at the Opera House. "Excuse Me," is a distinct novelty. It is a play of twenty stories and of none, which paradox is accounted for by the fact that the farce is in reality a relation of the incidents that occur upon an overland limited train during its progress from Chicago to New York. Thirty persons of widely contrasting types are the passengers and it is their experiences, encounters with each other and with the train crew which constitute the motif. James Lackaye will head the company. Anyone who has ever made an extended journey in a Pullman train can hardly have failed to note the humorous possibilities of such a trip and Mr. Hughes, having noted them, undertook to put them into the form of a farce. The happenings, while screamingly funny, are withal so natural and logical that it would be remarkable, rather than otherwise, had "Excuse Me" failed to prove a success of sensational dimensions.

BILLIE BURKE'S NEW PLAY
Everyone with even the slightest trace of Bohemian blood in his veins is eager to see something of studio life in Paris, for there—according to the general belief—is real Bohemia itself. Two of the acts of "The Runaway," the comedy that Miss Billie Burke will bring to the Opera House May 2, are laid in the studio of a celebrated artist in Paris and the audience is given quite a glimpse of the life there. But make no mistake. This artist is a man of reputation who commands a price for his paintings and has money. His studio is full of artistic treasures and the life he and his friends live is entirely different from that pictured in "La Bohème," for instance. It is the artist, a middle aged man of the world, who is the hero of the love story told in the play—Miss Burke, of course, as an ingenious little country girl, being the heroine.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE
This will be novelty week at Keith's for on the bill are certain acts that have never been witnessed here before, either by good or bad performers. Prominent among them are the four Konez brothers direct from Europe with an act new to all America. They are manipulators of the diablo, the rolling hoop and the celebrated but seldom seen boomerang. "Thou sands have used the expression, 'It acts like a boomerang,' but few know how the expression originated. The Konez brothers give a practical demonstration of how the popular expression originated. Ray, Two Coleys' and Ray present an act entitled "From Uncle Tom's Cabin to Vaudeville," and from the title one gets an idea of the broad range of entertainment offered. They give a little of everything that is entertaining. A female quartet, novelty for there are few of them before the public but the Rosemary Girls are a quartet specially selected from 1000 candidates and their singing is most pleasing. Moore and Elliott offer a decidedly good comedy sketch entitled "A Matrimonial Substitute," which is replete with laughs. Schack and Perchal are eccentric comedians and singers and dancers. John F. Birch, the man with the hats, presents an entire drama introducing a variety of characters and the only change of costume being in hats. He used every old kind of a hat and the great assistance of the hat in depicting the characters is remarkable. Elida Morris, the American Vestal Viley, is a singer of pleasing character, songs making striking changes. Volcan and Lamore are clever acrobatic comedians with a budget of funny stunts.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"Surprise Week" at the Merrimack Square theatre promises to provide excellent amusement for the thousands of patrons who weekly visit this popular playhouse. The bill will be one of unusual experience, selected by Manager Carroll after looking over a field of many well-known and high class entertainers. The names and nature of the different performers are not to be announced, but the assurance is given that all are first-class in their respective lines, and in combination will surely give thorough enjoyment. One of the acts recently concluded a successful engagement at Hammerstein's New York theatre, a fact in itself that should assure everyone who attends that the offering will be far above the average. The other contributors to the bill will provide entertainment in keeping with the high standard established by the headliner. The photo-plays for the first three days of the week will again be featured by some of the biggest and best films gotten out by the leading manufacturers of this and foreign countries. The views, also, will be especially interesting and include some that have to do with the present day events that are attracting the attention of the whole world. The Merrimack Square theatre concert orchestra, Phil M. Lederman, musical director, will feature selections from one of the popular operas on Friday night. Patrons of this theatre who desire to have their favorite seats reserved for them from week to week are asked to have their names placed on the subscription list so that the management can always assure them of their desired locations in the theatre. It costs no more. Why not try it? Call box office, 2631.

The supper hour matinee is again becoming popular with those lovers of good vaudeville who cannot arrange to attend either the afternoon or evening performances. The bill given

FATE OF THE TITANIC

Subject of Sermons--Memorial Services and Special Music

Several of the pastors of local churches preached yesterday on the wreck of the Titanic and in some cases the services were in the nature of a memorial of the victims of the disaster.

At the evening service at the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening, Mrs. O. R. Bush, Mrs. A. T. Howe, Mr. J. S. Howe and Mr. C. Mason sang appropriate selections and Rev. V. G. Alger drew lessons from the wreck of the Titanic, taking his text from II Cor. 12:25, "In peril of waters." In part he said:

"The wreck of the Titanic and the consequent loss of life is probably the greatest marine disaster in the history of mankind. It has been a tragedy as we are by distance from the scene of the disaster, we cannot contemplate it without a sense of horror. And yet it is at times remedial to ponder on the disasters of life.

"This is a time for us to reflect upon the fact that when we separate from our friends it may be for the last time. When you leave your home, you expect to return at the appointed time, but if you reflect upon the matter, you are not at all sure of your return. When the first boatloads of women and children left the Titanic they expected that the other boats would take off their husbands, brothers and fathers. They doubtless their belongings in the lifeboats were lessened by their anticipation of later meeting those from whom they were suddenly separated. And on the Titanic they entertained the hope that they would be picked up by some other vessel and that they would meet them after arriving in New York. But, alas, this was not to be. As St. James says: 'We know not what shall be on the morrow.'

"Another lesson we may take to heart is this: Sumptuous surroundings and great wealth are no absolute security against disaster on sea or land.

'WHERE MANHOOD PERISHED NOT'

Where cross the lines of forty north
and fifty-fourteen west
There rolls a wild and greedy sea
With death upon its crest.
No stone or wreath from human hands
Will ever mark the spot
Where fifteen hundred men went down,
But Manhood perished not.

Old Ocean takes but little heed
Of human tears or woe.
No shafts adorn the ocean graves,
Nor weeping willows grow.
Nor is there need of marble slab
To keep in mind the spot
Where noble men went down to death
But Manhood perished not!

Those men who looked on death and smiled
And trod the crumbling deck,
Have saved much more than precious lives
From out that awful wreck.
Though countless joys and hopes and fears
Were shattered at a breath,
'Tis something that the name of Man
Did not go down to death.

'Tis not an easy thing to die,
Even in the open air.
Twelve hundred miles from home and friends,
In a shroud of black despair.
A wreath to crown the brow of man,
And hide a former blot
Will ever blossom o'er the waves
Where Manhood perished not.

HARVEY F. THEW.
—In the N. Y. Herald.

and every sacrifice made that properly fell on one charged, as he would feel himself charged, with responsibility for the rescue of others.

It is difficult to realize that the "Titanic," which the men on board in the hour of peril refused to believe was shakable, has gone to "the bottom of dead ships," and with so much human freight aboard. But there is to be a resurrection soon. "They shall give up its dead," "They shall come forth, the just and the unjust." For some a day of joy, for others a day of sorrow; a day of light, a day of darkness. Does not Jesus speak to us as He did to men two thousand years ago.

"Watch! And what I say unto you, I say unto all: Watch. Be ye also ready!"

Memorial Service
At the First Baptist church Sunday evening a memorial service was held and the sermon and music had special reference to the sea tragedy. Mr. Kershaw, the organist, played Chopin's funeral march and Mrs. W. H. Pepin sang "Harbor Bells."

The pastor, Rev. S. W. Cummings, preached an eloquent and impressive sermon on the Titanic disaster. He said it was a long stretch from the Clermont built by Robert Fulton in 1807 to the floating hotels of the present day. Speaking of the tragedy, he said:

"This greatest of modern sea tragedies has fallen with stunning effect upon the people of America and Europe. Never has there been a catastrophe at sea of such magnitude and including among the lost so many people widely known. John J. Astor, many times a millionaire, Mr. Hays, president of a great railroad system, Major Butt, aide to President Taft, Wm. T. Stead of "Review of Reviews" fame, but illustrate the long list. We can well take the time tonight to seek to glean some points from this terrible disaster that are worthy of notice and which emphasize important lessons.

In the first place we are thrilled and comforted by the display of heroism and self-sacrifice shown by captain, officers, men and women passengers.

The best traditions of the sea have been preserved, and in this moment of testing men vied with each other in willing sacrifice of self on behalf of those least able to help themselves. Scores of wives were placed in boats while husbands stayed behind to die. Among such can be named Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Cartelle, both successful writers, and Mr. and Mrs. George Widener, members of the noted Philadelphia family of financiers. There were some women, Mrs. Isador Straus among them, who preferred to face death with their husbands to life without them. Mrs.

BOULEVARD BILL

To Come Up in Senate Wednesday

The bill relative to the proposed boulevard between Lowell and Lawrence will come before the senate on Wednesday for its second reading. The Lowell board of trade and the Lowell Automobile league instituted the bill.

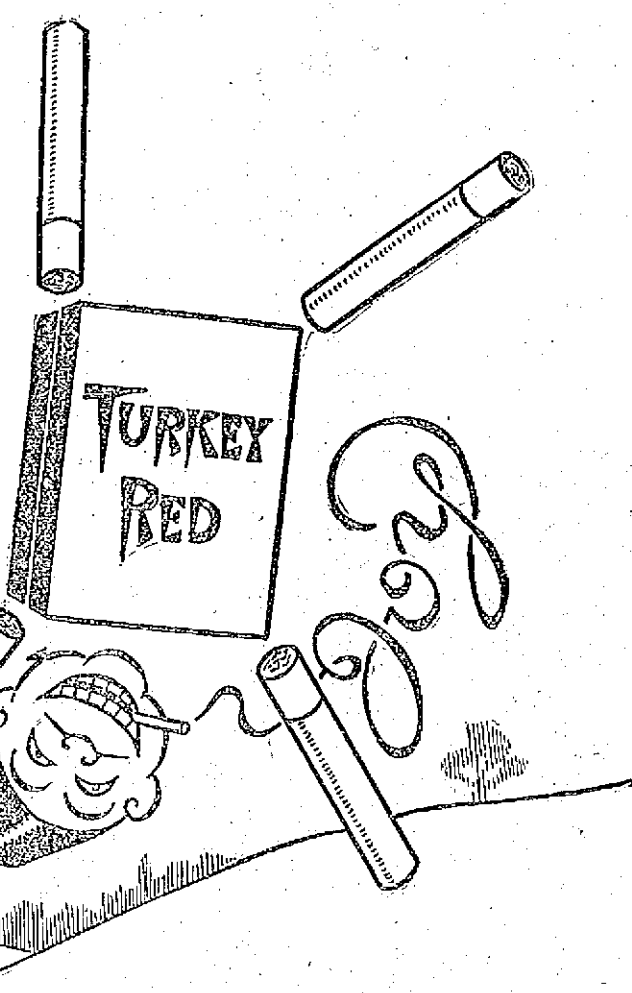

A hearing was given on the original measure by the committee on roads and bridges but that body gave the petitioners leave to withdraw, but agreed that something should be done to complete the highway.

Representative Otis W. Butler of this city is in charge of the bill at the present time. Senator Erson B. Barlow was successful in securing the acceptance of a substitute bill placing the entire cost of the highway on the state and this bill was referred by the senate to the committee on ways and means of which Sen. Frank P. Bennett of Sanguis, whose district also includes a portion of Lowell, is chairman. Sen. Bennett has assured the Lowell men that he will favor a reasonable measure whereby this highway can be constructed at once. He recorded himself in favor of the Lowell men's first plan.

The new measure calls for $75,000 to be spent by the state highway commission under a state appropriation. Of this total the two counties are to contribute about $19,000, or about one-quarter.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

At the services at the Congregational church Rev. William C. H. Moe, Richard Picken, aged 15 years, while riding a bicycle on the boulevard Friday morning came near meeting with a serious accident. The young lad was just learning to ride and he lost control of the wheel and collided with a wagon that was coming in the opposite direction. The bicycle was badly damaged but young Picken escaped without injuries.

An alarm from box 43 at 5.13 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a building at 51 Elm street where a chimney fire was in progress. The alarm was a needless one, there being more smoke than fire. The building is owned by James H. McDermott.

Early yesterday morning there was a telephone alarm for a grass fire in upper Gorham street. The blaze, however, was extinguished before any damage was done.

Man Was Charged With Larceny of a Coat

James B. Keith, who claims a residence in Sydney, Australia, was brought before Judge Pickman in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with the larceny of a rain coat, the property of George R. Dana, the well known automobile dealer, but after the testimony had been offered, the court found the man not guilty and he was discharged.

The first witness for the government was Mr. George R. Dana, who testified that one week ago Wednesday the defendant called at his place of business in East Merrimack street, and wanted to purchase a car. Mr. Dana gave the man a demonstration and also loaned him a coat.

The witness testified that he and Supt. Welch and the defendant held a conference in the superintendent's office shortly after the arrest and that Keith admitted that he had lied relative to the purchase of a car.

Judge Pickman in examining Mr. Dana brought forth the fact that Mr. Dana had loaned the defendant the coat and that Keith did not ask for it. He further stated that Keith telephoned him and said that the coat would be returned on the following Saturday morning.

At this point the court ruled that the coat, according to the testimony, came into the possession of the defendant in a lawful manner.

The defendant in testifying admitted that he had taken the coat and a check book in his pocket but that he had used them and while he misrepresented himself he had no intention to commit larceny and knew that he did not for the raincoat of which he was accused of stealing had been loaned to him and he had called the owner on the phone on several occasions and told him it would be returned Saturday but that before he had a chance to bring it back, he was arrested.

The court after considering the testimony in the case found the man not guilty and ordered him discharged.

Illegal Keeping.

Patrick Curran's house in Brouillette street, North Chelmsford, was raided by the police of that town yesterday and a quantity of liquor was found. Mr. Curran was in court this morning and when arraigned entered a plea of not guilty, but by agreement the case was continued until Wednesday.

Drunken Offenders.

Manuel Vieira was charged with being drunk, but he denied the allegation. Patrolman O'Keefe and Regan testified as to the man's condition and after the defendant had admitted he had six glasses of beer before being arrested he was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $2.

William Ronda was given a suspended sentence of one month in jail.

William L. Ferris and Thomas J. Cummings were fined $5 each, Charles H. Parker, a Sunday drunk, was fined $5, there were several first offenders who were fined $2 each and four simple drunks were released.

MONEY WAS STOLEN

Thieves Got Away With $1200

FALL RIVER, April 22.—Thieves blew open the safe of W. T. Grant & Company's 25-cent store at 134 South Main street, in the center of the city early this morning and got away with about $1200 receipts of Saturday. They gained entrance by prying some iron bars and screening from a window in the rear. Nitroglycerin was used and it wrenched the safe door clear from its hinges. Discovery of the theft was not made until late yesterday afternoon, when an employee of the store entered to adjust the lights for the night.

FARMERS' BALL

AT SACRED HEART SCHOOL ON THURSDAY EVENING

The parishioners of the Sacred Heart church are making elaborate preparations for "The Farmers' Ball" which is scheduled to take place in the parochial hall next Thursday evening, April 25th.

Among the parishioners generally the farmers ball is hailed as one of the most attractive innovations of the season's entertainment series, and judging by the great demand for tickets a splendid success from every standpoint is assured. One of the most attractive features connected with the affair will be a rustic parade through the principal streets this evening, headed by a platoon of "town constables" and a band of twenty-five pieces under the direction of Mr. John Frederick.

The parishioners of the young men of the parish appropriately costume as "admirals" and will feature a triumphal march to the county seat. Suitable rustic conveyances for the pretty girls of the parish will lend a very pleasing feature to the parade.

Valuable prizes will be given to the most appropriately costumed lady and gentlemen participating in the march. A meeting of all those intending to participate in the grand march will be held in the parochial hall tomorrow evening.

The success of last year's ball will undoubtedly bring many new faces to this year's ball, and all are assured of a most enjoyable time.

WHITE STAR OFFICIAL TESTIFIES

GAS LIGHT COMPANY

Asked to Keep Its Office Open on Saturday Afternoon

Commissioner George H. Brown believes that the Lowell Gas Light company should keep its office open on Saturday afternoons for the convenience of the public and he has addressed the following letter to the president of that company:

Lowell, April 22, 1912.
Mr. George S. Motley, President Lowell Gas Light Co., Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Commissioner of lighting of the city of Lowell, in which capacity I am brought into business relationship with public service lighting corporations. I desire to suggest that the office of the Lowell Gas Light company be kept open on Saturday afternoons for the convenience of the public, who find it difficult to pay their lighting bills on the other days of the week, and thereby obtaining less a discount which they can ill afford to forfeit.

The opening of the Lowell Gas Light company's office on Saturday afternoons may cause a slight inconvenience to your clerical force, but this is insignificant as compared with the service it will give to the public as a whole, and as a public service corporation, you will agree, your first obligation is to the public.

Thanking you for prompt consideration of this suggestion, I remain, Respectfully yours,

George H. Brown,
Commissioner of Lighting.

Demand for Wood

Thomas Connor, who is in charge of the city wood yard, says that the demand for wood has increased within the last few weeks and he attributes the increased demand to the strike. The strike, however, does not seem to reflect results at the office of the board of charities. It was stated at that office today that the demand for aid had not increased very materially during the strike and as to a greater demand for wood Clerk Gallagher explained that during the winter months when both coal and wood is dispensed, the usual order is a dollar's worth of coal and fifty cents' worth of wood. No coal is being delivered at the present time and as the weather has been rather cold the demand for wood has been greater. Mr. Gallagher said that apart from keeping a few families on the list that would have been self supporting but for the strike, the demand during the strike was almost normal.

City Hall Meetings

The municipal council will hold a regular meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and there is a big raft of routine business awaiting the attention of the board. At a recent meeting the commissioner of streets and highways was requested to present to the board a list of streets to be watered for the year by carts and car sprinklers and the list will be submitted tomorrow. The list will contain more than 200 streets.

Commissioners Cummings and Brown went out this forenoon on a tour of inspection of streets where pole locations have been asked and they will report their findings at the meeting tomorrow afternoon.

The council will meet Wednesday morning and will hear George M. Rex, the expert accountant who audited the city books, explain certain criticisms and suggestions contained in his report. Mr. Rex has notified Commissioner Donnelly that he will attend the meeting.

Building Permits

The following permits were issued at office of the superintendent of buildings today:

George H. McElroy, dwelling, 157-159 Agawam street, 26x54, three stories, estimated cost, $4000.

Lowell Waste company, alterations and additions, enlarging waste plant in Corbarn street, corner of Concord avenue; estimated cost, $3000.

Adelard Desrosiers, dwelling, 242-244 Cumberland road, 24x52, two and a half stories; estimated cost, $3000.

John B. Clancy, storage and wagon shed, 24x20, two stories, $100.

Presidential Primaries

Don't forget, Mr. Voter, the time and the place for registration of the presidential primaries. The time is Thursday and Friday of this week and the place the office of the board of registrars at city hall, on Thursday from 7 to 9 p. m., and on Friday from 12 m. to 10 p. m. Applicants must bring their tax bills and naturalized persons their final papers. See legal notice in another column.

Marriage Intentions

The following marriage intentions were registered at the city clerk's office this forenoon:

Simon Pelletier (widower), 32, butcher, or Amesbury, Mass., and Marie Anna Leimelise, 32, operative, 526 Moody street, Lowell.

Matthew J. Ryan, 29, machinist, 165 Adams street, and Catherine Roache, 22, plush mill, Broadway.

HARRY S. DRURY

GETS CONTRACT FOR GALVANIZED WROUGHT IRON PIPE

Talk not of close bidding until thou hast familiarized thyself with the bids that were opened and awarded at the purchasing agent's office at city hall this afternoon. The purchasing agent had called for bids on about 11,500 feet of galvanized wrought iron pipe of different dimensions; service pipe for the water department. The bids opened this afternoon were as follows:

Harry S. Drury, $612.53; Farrell & Conant, $644; T. Costello & Co., $616.11; Middlesex Machine Co., $685; Tenney Morse & Co., Boston, $698; Carroll Bros., $698; E. A. Lynde, Boston, $122.99; John A. Catter & Co., $745.

The contract was awarded to Harry S. Drury and for a contract of its size, the bids were the closest in the history of the purchasing agent's office.

MANY WITNESSES

To Tell Committee About Disaster to the Steamship Titanic

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Vice President P. A. S. Franklin of the International Mercantile Marine Co. told the senate investigating committee today how he had asked to have the earlier reports of the Titanic disaster held up to avoid any unnecessary alarm. He denied any knowledge of the message addressed to Rep. Hughes of West Virginia about the ship being towed to Halifax and gave other details. Bit by bit he contributed to the evidence the senate is seeking to throw light on the catastrophe that sank the Titanic, the pride of the seas, which sent almost 1600 people to their death and plunged the world into mourning.

The inquiry christened the luxurious caucus room of the senate, regarded as perhaps the handsomest legislative hearing room in the world. In its center sat the sub-committee with William Alden Smith of Michigan presiding. Jammed about the long table which the committee occupied were witnesses and spectators. The hearing overshadowed all other congressional proceedings.

After declaring that officials of the White Star line had no knowledge of a misleading telegram to Mr. Hughes it was acknowledged by Mr. Franklin that he had issued reassuring statements when he had no facts on which to base them. Mr. Franklin was the first witness.

The witness read from a great sheaf of wireless telegrams received Monday morning. None of them contained any information of value but it was upon this data that the line issued its statements in an effort, said Mr. Franklin, to reassure inquirers. Later when the news came, he said, he sent immediately for the reporters and proceeded to begin to reading to them the long Marconigram from the Carpathia giving the gruesome news in considerable detail.

"I began to read," said Mr. Franklin, "Titanic went down this morning at 2.20 a. m. and then I looked up. There was not a reporter in the room. They were all racing for 'phones to get the news out to the world."

WORK IS RESUMED

Cotton Mill Operatives Return to Their Places Today

After being idle for the past four weeks, the six cotton mills of this city opened their gates this morning, and nearly 15,000 operatives resumed their work with a grin of satisfaction, for they have won what they term a great victory, a ten per cent increase, and the settlement of many grievances which existed between the employers and employees. Despite the fact that the operatives have just something in the vicinity of $400,000 in wages, they were cheerful when they entered the mill gates this morning.

The mill gates were opened at the usual hour this morning and the thousands of operatives went to work without the least sign of trouble. Police officers were on duty at each mill in case anything out of the ordinary should turn up, but their services were not required, for everybody was happy and there was not the least sign of trouble. The mill agents were also on hand early and they report that most all their operatives are back to work, and all the departments are running full blast, and so, after four weeks of idleness, marked by excellent behavior on the part of the strikers, and by little poverty and hardship of any kind, the strike ended with everybody satisfied to resume work under the new conditions.

The strike started March 25 in the Appleton mills, when the operatives upon learning the amount of increase granted by the mill officials voted their disapproval by leaving their work. The news of the strike was soon spread to the other mills, and before the day was over, all the other mills were practically crippled, so much so that every cotton mill closed its doors the next day. The employees of the Lawrence factory, however, were satisfied with the increase granted and remained at work.

On April 12, J. C. Wadleigh, president of the Lowell Manufacturers' association, announced through The Sun an increase of 10 per cent. The United Textile Workers of America immediately accepted the increase and voted to return to work on April 22, the time set by the agents for the reopening of the mills. The I. W. W., however, did not accept the increase until other grievances such as no discrimination, time and a quarter for overtime, the privilege to the weavers of weighting their own cloth and the recognition of shop committees, had been granted, and the official vote declaring the strike off was taken last Saturday afternoon on the South common at a mass meeting of all the nationalities.

The organizers of the I. W. W. will now leave for other centers, where they will continue their work, and it is probable that Manchester will be their next stopping place, where an endeavor will be made to organize the mill operatives.

TRAUTMANN IS ILL

I. W. W. Leader Under Doctor's Care at His Hotel

William E. Trautmann, the I. W. W. organizer, lecturer and leader, is confined to his room at the Waverly hotel with a severe attack of laryngitis. Mr. Trautmann was arrested early Friday morning on a capias issued by the superior court of Essex county and charging conspiracy to assault and commit violence in Lawrence, Mass. The capias was issued as the result of an indictment by the grand jury of Essex county after hearing evidence having to do with trouble in the public streets of Lawrence during the strike. Trautmann will be arraigned in the court at Newburyport, Mass., tomorrow morning. If he is physically able to make his appearance. He is being attended by Dr. A. E. A. McCann. William E. Trautmann was a well known figure in Lowell during the strike that was begun in the latter part of March and just ended. He said this afternoon that he would appear in court tomorrow morning in Newburyport, if his physician would permit. "I have nothing to fear," he said, "and unless it proves a physical impossibility I will be there. I have done a great deal of hard work within the last few weeks and I am pretty well worn out. I spoke every day and several times a day for many days and my throat gave out. I hope it will not be for long as I have much work on hand at the present time."

MANY FOREIGNERS

ARRIVED IN THIS CITY YESTERDAY MORNING

The largest party of foreigners that has come to this city in a long time arrived here yesterday. Their presence at the Middlesex street depot during the morning hours attracted a large number and on passing the depot one would think that "Teddy" Roosevelt or some other notable had arrived in town. The party arrived here from Fall River. There were 75 people in all.

An extra car was attached to the train, but this was inadequate to accommodate all. In the extra car there were 62 people, while the remaining 13 were in a combination car. Upon arriving in Lowell the visitors were met by many people. The majority of the aliens were men, but there were many women and children also.

As about all went to other cities they waited at the depot until 10 o'clock when some took the train for Nashua, and Manchester, N. H. Others took the 10.35 train for parts north while more took the 12.02 for Haverhill.

SECOND REGIMENT

OF FRENCH-AMERICAN BRIGADE TO BE REORGANIZED

The reorganizing of the second regiment of the French-American Volunteer Brigade of New England will take place in this city, Sunday, May 12, at which time the election of the regimental and battalion officers will take place. The meeting will be held at the C. M. A. C. hall and will be under the auspices of the local guards of the regiment, Gardes Frontenac, d'Honneur and Jacques-Cartier.

Garde d'Honneur of this city will be initiated into the regiment at that meeting and the transfer of the following guards from the fourth regiment to the second will be effected: Garde St. Joseph of Fitchburg and two guards of Marlboro, this bringing the number of guards in the second regiment to 12. On the same date the first regiment will meet in Fall River, and the third in Manchester. Colonel Albert Bergeron of this city is again a candidate for the same position, while Capt. Joseph Lamoureux of Garde d'Honneur is in line for major of the Lowell battalion.

Benjamin Elder, M. D., D. D., LL. D., a native of Denmark, paymaster of Jack London, is in this city, where he will remain for two or three days, during which time he will give lectures on abolishing child labor and white slavery in this country as well as to the means of bettering conditions in prisons.

ANOTHER STRIKE

Sheet Metal Workers Have Grievances

Another strike broke out in this city this morning when the members of the Sheet Metal Workers union quit work after they claim being refused an increase of wages and the settlement of minor grievances, such as an eight hour day in some shops. The strikers number 48 and this forenoon they held a meeting at Carpenters' hall, the result of which is not known. The members employed in the cotton mills, however, are still at work; as they are satisfied with the 10 per cent. increase.

The shops more or less affected by the strike are the following: Mack, Wilder, Carroll Brothers, Cushing, Douglass, Holington and others. The strikers claim they presented their grievances to their employers last week and notified them if a settlement was not forthcoming by Monday, they would remain out of work, and so they did.

A still alarm at 7.30 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a house in Central street owned by T. Costello. The call was caused by smoke coming from a furnace.

VICTIMS OF DISASTER

Were Prayed for in All the Catholic Churches Yesterday

The second Sunday after Easter was observed in all the Catholic churches yesterday with fitting services. The preachers touched on the Titanic disaster and asked their parishioners to pray for the repose of the souls of those who perished.

St. Patrick's

At the high mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday Rev. Joseph Curran delivered the sermon. He also referred to the sinking of the Titanic, and the loss of so many people, saying that it was only one of the many instances bearing out the words of our Lord that "in life we are in the midst of death."

At all the other masses prayers were asked for the repose of the souls of the unfortunate victims of the wreck. It was announced that the confirmation of the children of the parish will take place on June 5 and Bishop Anderson of Boston will officiate. The sermon at the high mass was given by Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I. He spoke on the epistle of the day. Before his sermon he said:

"The Forty Hours devotion opened at St. Peter's church yesterday with services of unusual splendor. Solemn high mass was sung by Rev. W. Geo. Mullin, assisted by Rev. Dr. Keleher as deacon and Rev. Daniel J. Keleher as sub-deacon. The musical program was one of rare excellence, both choirs taking part. The solos in the regular choir were taken by Miss Gertrude E. Keleher, Mr. Jas. E. Donnelly and Mr. John P. Rone. Mrs. McKenney presided at the organ. Rev. John F. Burns directed the vested choir and the singing was very fine. Dr. Keleher preached a most instructive sermon on the gospel of the day. And he also asked the prayers of the congregation for those who perished in the wreck of the Titanic."

After mass there was a procession in honor of the Blessed Sacrament. Fr. Mullin had charge of the procession and the blessed sacrament was carried by Dr. Keleher. As the marchers moved about the church the choirs alternately sang "Panse Lingua."

This morning's masses were celebrated at 5, 7 and 8 o'clock and there was a large number of communicants. The devotion will come to a close tomorrow at 8 o'clock with a solemn high mass. The Holy Name society of St. Peter's will hold an entertainment and dance on May 17 in Lincoln hall. Pres. James W. Cook heads the committee in charge of the affair. Instruction for the classes for first communion will be started this week.

For Confirmation

Bishop Anderson of Boston announced that the following are the days that he will come to this city to administer the sacrament of confirmation:

Sacred Heart, Monday, May 20, 10:30 a. m.; St. Jean Baptiste, Monday, May 20, 3:00 p. m.; Our Lady of Lourdes, Monday, May 20, 2:00 p. m.; St. Patrick's, Wednesday, June 5, 10:30 a. m.; St. Columba's, Wednesday, June 5, 3 p. m.

Immaculate Conception

The high mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. Herve Racette, O. M. I., of the Tewksbury novitiate. At this mass as well as all the other masses prayers for the victims of the recent wreck were asked. The sermon at the high mass was given by Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I. He spoke on the epistle of the day. Before his sermon he said:

"While it is not customary to speak from a Catholic pulpit on the topics of the day, last week's disaster has excited such universal interest and sympathy that it cannot be out of place to devote a few words to this subject this morning. It is hardly necessary to point out to our Catholic people the lessons to be drawn from this terrible catastrophe. There is first of all that great lesson which is preached to them in season and out of season—the lesson of being always ready to appear before the supreme judge of the living and the dead. And, as a matter of fact, there are few practical Catholics who will set out on a journey of any length, either on land or sea, without first fortifying themselves with the sacraments of the church. The second lesson emphasized by the disaster is the fact that Almighty God is still the Lord and ruler of His creation and that men have not yet usurped His position of controller of the forces of nature. While men may boast of their scientific achievements, and glory in their conquest of the elements, God, from time to time, continues to take His toll of human lives, to remind us of our weakness and nothingness. And while we meditate upon these salutary lessons, let us not fall, in our charity, to remember the souls of those who so nobly died, that others might live, though they labored under the disadvantages of having to appear suddenly before their God, we must not presume, on that account, to judge them. For, as they stood before the judgment seat of God, they could, at least, point to that sublime act of charity which they had just performed. Greater love than this no man hath, that he lay down his life for his friends."

Sacred Heart Church

At all the masses at the Sacred Heart church prayers were requested for the repose of the souls of the sufferers of the Titanic disaster. The high mass at 10:30 o'clock was sung by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I. The sermon was preached by Rev. T. F. Wood, O. M. I. It was an instructive discourse on the text, "I am the Good Shepherd and I know mine and mine know me." The eloquent speaker treated his subject in a most interesting manner and held the close attention of the large congregation. It was announced that the classes for first communion will start this afternoon. The school children will meet at 4 o'clock and those who work will meet at 7 o'clock.

St. Margaret's

Rev. Charles Galligan, pastor, celebrated the high mass at St. Margaret's church yesterday. Fr. Galligan also preached the sermon. He asked for prayers for the sufferers of the Titanic and spoke on the gospel of the day. After the services in the church last evening the ladies of the parish held a meeting and organized. The sodality is composed of the women of the parish and the pastor is anxious to have all become members. Mrs. Margaret Bagshaw was elected prefect.

St. John's, North Chelmsford

The masses at St. John's church were celebrated yesterday morning by Rev. Fr. Schofield, at the usual hours. Prayers were offered for the repose of the souls of the ones who lost their lives on the Titanic.

Previous to the sermon the choir sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Benediction of the most blessed sacrament was given in the afternoon at 3:30 by Rev. Fr. Doherty, which was followed by the blessing of the relics by Fr. Schofield.

The classes were formed yesterday for first communion which will take place in June. The classes are in charge of sisters of Notre Dame for instruction on Sunday and Rev. Fr. Doherty during the week.

The members of the Catholic club held a meeting last night in St. John's hall with a large attendance of members. Considerable business was transacted, work on the repairing of the hall is progressing rapidly. The Knights of the Sacred Heart will hold their regular meeting on Thursday evening. The boys are meeting with great success in their military drills, and they are now organizing a baseball team.

Mission at St. Columba's

The first mission at St. Columba's church was opened yesterday with a very large congregation in attendance. The mission is being conducted by Redemptorist Fathers.

The mission was opened at the high mass at which time a very important sermon on the gospel of the day was delivered by Rev. Fr. Gannon. The services this week are for the women of the parish and will be conducted each evening at 7:30 o'clock, and each morning at 5 and 8 o'clock when masses will be celebrated followed by an instruction.

The congregation last night filled the church to its capacity and the sermon was very instructive. The exercises closed with the benediction of the blessed sacrament. The masses this morning were also largely attended.

Next week will be the men's turn. The services to be held at the same hour, in the evening and morning. The children's mission opened yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and will be continued until Wednesday morning when special services will be held, the exercises being held in the afternoon.

FOUR INJURED

In an Auto Accident in New York

NEW YORK, April 22.—Four persons were injured early today when a $12,000 automobile, known as one of the three finest cars in New York city, crashed into a telegraph pole on Jerome avenue, the Bronx. The machine was owned by Mrs. J. Maxwell of Fifth avenue and was occupied by her chauffeur and three of his friends. The police say it was a "joy" ride party in which Mrs. Maxwell had not given her sanction. One of the injured, Miss Adeline Callias, a stenographer, will die.

The police say the automobile was making better than 45 miles an hour when it hit the pole. The chauffeur explained the accident by saying that he had temporarily lost control of the wheel. The car is a total loss.

STRIKE IS ENDED

Operatives Went Back to Work

CLINTON, April 22.—The strike at the Lancaster mills, manufacturers of cotton goods, ended today with the return of strikers who have been idle since March 20. The demand of employees for a ten per cent. wage advance has been granted by the firm, although the matter of abolishing the fine system has been held in abeyance until a decision is made by the supreme court in a similar case now before it.

More than 2300 persons have been idle because of the trouble, 1300 of this number having been forced out after the strike had been declared. It was estimated that the number of returning operatives was reduced nearly 200 below the normal operating force as many families left the town during the strike.

SAFE BLOWN OPEN

Money and Jewelry Stolen From Boston Bank

BOSTON, April 22.—Safe-blowers got about $300 in Irish money, and half a dozen pieces of jewelry valued at not more than $100 from a big safe in the Italian bank of D. & P. Luciano, 133 North street, before daylight yesterday morning. The loss is not sufficient to embarrass the banking firm, which does a flourishing business among the Italian residents.

A.O.H. BUILDING FUND

Lecture by Hon. D. I. Walsh on
Heritage of the Irish Race

Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan suggested a movement to raise $50,000 for A. O. H. building fund in fifty days, offering to subscribe $1000. He gave $100 as a starter. Mayor O'Donnell presided at the meeting.

At Associate hall last evening a lecture was delivered by Hon. David I. Walsh under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and in aid of the A. O. H. building fund. On the platform were His Honor Mayor O'Donnell and all the members of the municipal council, together with all the members of the school board except Mr. Rogers.

Mr. James O'Sullivan opened the meeting with a brief speech setting forth the objects of the meeting and preferring that in spite of any apparent snail in the movement, the Ancient Order of Hibernians would yet have a building of its own.

The Bachelor club of thirty members sang several selections in grand style in solo and chorus. The club appeared at Keith's later in the evening.

Mr. Walsh discussed "The Heritage of the Irish Race," touching their love of freedom and their devotion to the faith of their fathers.

After Mr. Walsh, Alderman Cummings responded to the call of the chairman with a brief address offering encouragement to the movement.

Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan when called upon made a stirring speech urging decisive action. He offered to subscribe $1000 to the building fund on condition that $50,000 be raised in so many days. He put down $100 as a starter in the work. His remarks elicited much applause.

Mayor O'Donnell's Address
Mayor O'Donnell in assuming the chair said:

"We are assembled this evening on the eve of a great epoch in the world's history, the long hoped-for passage of the Irish Home Rule bill, and from the reports that are flashed daily across the ocean, Ireland's hopes were never brighter than at present. The hours seem ages as we wait in suspense for the glad news of the success of John Redmond, and the Irish party, but only it comes we will forgive the long suspense; yes, and the centuries of sufferings though we will never forget them, for the greatest glory of a free-born people is to transmit that freedom to their children. A philosopher once said that countries are cultivated, not as they are fertile but as they are free and prosperous. Home Rule, a bright and prosperous industrial future must follow, in Ireland. The end and plight under which Ireland has labored has been the world's gain for it has sent Irish blood, Irish intelligence and energy, Irish honesty and Irish pluck and perseverance to the four quarters of the globe where they have assimilated and become an important factor in the world's progress. To America has been given the honor of Ireland's emigration and in all the pursuits of war or peace in this country Ireland's sons and their children have been ever in the forefront. Tonight we are gathered to listen to a discourse by one of the foremost citizens of this commonwealth, a man whom we hope to greet by our own love and honorable title of 'Your Excellency,' a gentleman and a scholar of Irish blood and breeding and a credit to both. His fame as a speaker has preceded him to Lowell and hence I shall not take up your time with any further remarks of an introductory nature but will perform a most pleasing duty, in presenting as the speaker of the occasion, the Hon. David I. Walsh, of Clifton."

Mr. Walsh's Address

Mr. Walsh received a most cordial greeting. He spoke in part as follows: "Every Irish heart bounds with joy and pride as he recalls the glory of his race at home. He can see the glories brought to our ancestors, not riches, nor firearms, nor power; but the Cross, the emblem of Christ, the symbol of Christianity. And why not? What conquering hero, what great scholar, brought brighter gems or left a mightier legacy than that which Patrick brought and left to Ireland. The laws of honor and truth who over fifteen hundred years ago came to Ireland, brought to our land the very same message that Christ four hundred years before had brought to Jerusalem.

"Hence it is most fitting that at the very outset of my address I should ask you to join in reverencing his name. 'I am proud to speak of the Irish race, but how can I fully do it? I cannot speak as one born in the bosom of that old land; neither can I speak as one who has witnessed her terrible persecutions, nor can I speak as one of her exiles.

St. Patrick brought the word of God to a pagan people and planted the cross where Christian foot had never trod.

DAVID I. WALSH

and ruthless invasions the Northerners overran the island. They destroyed the institutions of learning, schools and libraries with their priceless manuscripts were burned and Irish civilization all but extinguished.

After two hundred years of foreign invasion, the dauntless spirit of the race asserted itself. The Danes were decisively routed early in the eleventh century and with the restoration of Irish power, literature, art and religion awoke to new life. Once more Irish missionaries penetrated barbarian Europe. Everything promised a permanent revival of civilization. But the country was not permitted to work out its own destinies.

The English invasions began and Ireland was doomed to seven hundred years of unrest, of oppression and never-ending sorrow. The war that followed was not of conquest, but of extermination. The story of the systematic butchery that followed during these centuries shocks the reader of history with their records of savagery. We marvel that the race survived at all.

The vast majority of those professing the Roman Catholic faith, had neither land nor wealth nor political power nor fair standing before the law. Only a common misery and a common hatred toward England united them.

Ever since the English in that 12th century started their expedition to conquer Ireland, they have tried, and tried vainly to crush among the Irish the spirit of rebellion against tyranny. From that day to this, our people have been killed with famine, shot down by soldiers, hanged, castrated, bullied, threatened, flattered, but the fight has gone on and today the Irish question is the foremost before the British parliament where Ireland demands the right of self government.

The nineteenth century offered little hope. Ireland was now to be ruled by Englishmen at Westminster, who had no knowledge of the country's needs and no sympathy with the people or her institutions. Meanwhile, a disaster infinitely greater smote the Irish people, the appalling famine of 1847 to 1850, with its ghastly record of starvation, eviction, and emigration. By tens and by hundreds of thousands the people perished of hunger and fever. The strong flocked from the country in a never ending stream. The weak dropped in their tracks and died by the roadside. The number killed by hunger was estimated at 500,000. Between 1818 and 1852 over a quarter of a million families were evicted and between 1847 and 1851, 1,250,000 were exiled.

Ireland reduced from the center of European learning to a poverty stricken, shackled bound province, she has refused to be conquered and still retains the right of any race or power to rule Ireland against the will of Irishmen. Other lands have long ago accepted the declaration of the conqueror, adopted his religion, and obeyed his laws, because they felt his power could not be overcome. Not so with our race. As it has been for centuries past, it is still the same; for in England still the great question is the Irish question, and England now knows that that question will never be settled until it is settled right—in favor of freedom and of justice.

The emigrants of '48 and the years following had scarcely been settled here when, hearing their country's call, they left home, comfort, and all that a man holds dear in life, to defend her honor. In the battle field where the cannon roared and the dead and dying were strewn about him, he was a soldier who knew no danger. Without the Irish patriots in the Civil war, the history of the Irish in America would have been a different story and the history of this republic and its accomplishments would have been the less glorious.

The work of today and tomorrow is the struggle of races and of men for place in the great workshop of the world. The men of Irish nationality must not only give, and continue to give, its youth to serve in the ranks of the clergy, in the professions, in the business and in the industrial and commercial life, but they must also be men who shall in no manner be inferior to the best in American life; and above all, when a call comes to the men of Irish blood to serve their fellow men in public office, then let no man dare to represent us unless he be a true representative of the best heart and mind and conscience of our race. He who values wealth more than honor, rank more than character, advancement more than improvement, ease more than reform, falls below the highest standard of his countrymen. Upon the conscience of every man and every woman in this country who is called to represent us, is laid the weight of obligation to certify the success of our great inheritance and to certify the fitness of the men of our race to self government.

But should our young men be encouraged to enter politics? The word politician is not a respected name in America today. In many quarters the difference between the title politician and statesman depends upon ancestry and wealth, rather than upon merit and the distinction between the activity of citizens of foreign blood in politics and that of the men who represent wealth has resulted in proclaiming the men of recent foreign ancestry as politicians, while the son of inherited wealth often, regardless of his ability, earns the title of statesman.

Our religion teaches us that the country's claim upon the heart and conscience of the citizen is as imperative as its claim upon the body and the mind. What better example of the need of men of heart than is presented in the solution of the great public question of the hour?

How is the great struggle between capital and labor to be finally and satisfactorily settled except by awakening the conscience of the employer to the inalienable rights of the workingmen to receive an honest and decent livelihood for himself and his family, and by arousing the conscience of the workman to an appreciation of the rights of honest capital to be protected? No American can share in the blessings of our free institutions and have any doubt concerning the need of conscience and religion for the administration and preservation of our liberties.

How is the great struggle between Ireland and English government to be finally settled except by arousing the conscience of the English to the fact that just government depends on the consent of the governed?

In these days, when stories in many cases true, of dishonesty and dishonesty in public, in business and professional life are rife, it is being borne in on the people with ever increasing force that the future life of the nation, its success or failure, does not depend on the culture, the brilliancy, the talent, the ability, of its leaders in legislation or business life but on the restoration, preservation, and development of the virtues that made our ancestors, both Puritan and Celt—God-fearing, honest Christian people.

How shall we fortify ourselves except by our inherited faith when we penetrate the atmosphere of doubt which surrounds us on all sides? The people of all the civilized nations of the world are feeling its touch. Indeed it is shaking the very foundations of human society. Many descendants of the Puritan and the Pilgrim, long noted for their intense and strict religious fervor, today are doubting all revelations, the Cross, the Bible, and the church.

We must show ourselves worthy of our Irish inheritance and hand down to those who come after us all those virtues and blessings unchanged and unimpaired, so that those who follow us may bless our memory as we bless the memory of those who have gone before us.

And we must do it as they did it. They have taught us that the true life here below is to be workmen, and that we are to work for others. So we of the present generation must be workmen; our work is no longer to be confined to the menial labor of our ancestors, but we are to bring the virtues of industry, of honesty, courage, of perseverance into whatever avenue of endeavor we may be called to labor, remembering that our business and our profession may be what it will, but to enter into the true spirit of life, our efforts must be helpful to the masses of men around us whose life, liberty and happiness are in a degree, in our keeping.

The great Irish monk, Father Burke, has defined our duties for us in these ringing words: "Be true to your religion; be true to your fatherland; be true to your families and to yourselves; be true to the glorious republic that opened her arms to receive you and gave you the rights of citizenship; be true to America."

TO HONOR BUERMAYER
NEW YORK, April 22—Harry Buermayer, "father of track athletics in America," is to be honored by the American Olympic committee with an invitation to go to Stockholm on the Finland as the guest of the committee. The invitation is endorsed by the American officials as "a fitting testimonial to Mr. Buermayer's position and work for amateur athletics in America."

LEWIS F. ULMER WAS IN ILL HEALTH
ROCKLAND, Me., April 22—Dependancy caused by ill-health led Lewis F. Ulmer, aged 13, to commit suicide at his home in Gurdy street yesterday afternoon.

The boy was found hanging from a doorknob in the parlor at 8 o'clock and it was the judgment of a physician that life had been extinct about two hours.

VARNEY WHIST CLUB
Last evening the junior members of the Varney Whist club entertained the senior members of the club by giving them an invitation to the concert at Keith's theatre where the Bachelor club was to be the leading feature of the concert. Certain members of the Bachelor club are also members of the Varney club so that it was complimentary to their talent as an attraction. The club and their friends to the number of about fifty, had seats in the centre of the theatre, and thoroughly enjoyed the concert, which was one of the best given in that theatre since it opened. So well pleased was Manager Stevens with the club's work as a drawing card that arrangements have been made whereby they will appear at Keith's theatre in Boston in the near future.

The club and their friends to the number of about fifty, had seats in the centre of the theatre, and thoroughly enjoyed the concert, which was one of the best given in that theatre since it opened. So well pleased was Manager Stevens with the club's work as a drawing card that arrangements have been made whereby they will appear at Keith's theatre in Boston in the near future.

LOWELL STARTS WELL

Defeated Lynn in Opening Game by Score of 10 to 8

There were about three thousand people present at the formal opening of the New England baseball season in this city Saturday when Lowell and Lynn met at Spaulding park. It was expected that the official opening of the season would take place Friday morning but owing to the inclement weather it was decided to postpone the game. Lowell was to have played Lawrence in the afternoon but when the Grays went to Lawrence it was found that the grounds were in very poor condition and therefore the formal opening took place Saturday.

About 3 o'clock a procession of players and officials of the municipal council marched from the grand stand to the center field fence where the United States flag was raised while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." At the conclusion of the selection the procession marched back to the grand stand and the members of the municipal council got into harness and demonstrated their ability as baseball players. Mayor James E. O'Donnell took his place on the pitcher's mound and James E. O'Donnell went behind the bat. Lawrence Cummings was on first, Andrew E. Barrett went to short and George H. Brown was on the third bag. Capt. Jake Boultres went to bat and batted out flies and red hot lines and foul flies but none of the members of the council were able to recover the sphere.

It was shortly after the preliminary practice parade and tryout of the members of the council that Umpire Kerin called the game.

First Inning
Zelzer's wildness in the first inning resulted in Lynn scoring three runs. The local pitcher was very erratic and three of the members of the visiting team reached the initial bag as a result of being hit by the pitcher.

Wallace, the first man to face Zelzer, cracked a fly which Rising gathered in. Strands drew a free pass. Cargo singled to right field and Strands traveled to third. Keefe hit in front of the plate and Lavigne slammed the ball to Wright but the latter dropped the sphere and the runner was safe. Strands scoring on the error. McGovern got hit by a pitched ball and went to first and Logan went out on a foul fly to Lavigne. Morris got hit by a pitched ball and went to first. Cargo scoring on the play. Weeden was the third man to be hit by a pitched ball and Keefe scored. Ward struck out. McGovern tried to score from third and was caught at the plate.

In the latter half of the inning the team failed to send a man across the plate. De Groff drew a free pass and went to third on a bad throw to catch him at second. Rising struck out. Magee hit to Logan who threw home, getting De Groff at the plate. Magee stole second and Wright drew a base on balls but Boultres closed the inning by flying to Strands.

Score—Lowell 0, Lynn 3.
Second Inning
Lynn failed to score in the first half of the second inning. Wallace hit to Wolfgang and was retired at first. Strands got a two-bagger to right field but was nailed while trying to steal third. Lavigne throwing him out. Cargo got a free pass but Keefe was third out on a fly to Boultres.

In the latter half of the inning Nye fouled to McGovern, Wolfgang flied to Keefe and Lavigne hit to Ward and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, Lynn 3.
Third Inning
Nothing for the visitors in the first half of the third. McGovern struck out, Logan flied to Rising and Morris flied to Wolfgang.

Lowell turned the tables on the visitors in the latter half of the third by knocking out four runs. It was a batting carnival in every sense of the word and as a result of the heavy slick work of the Lowellers Ward was taken out of the box and Harrington substituted. Zelzer was the first man up and he singled to center field. De Groff followed with another single by short and when Rising knocked out a two-bagger to right field Zelzer scored. Magee made another two-bagger and De Groff and Rising scored. At this point Ward was taken out of the box and Harrington substituted. Wright struck out. Boultres hit to Harrington and was out at first. Magee going to third. Magee then stole home. Nye closed the inning by striking out.

Score—Lowell 4, Lynn 3.
Fourth Inning
Lynn scored a run in the fourth inning which tied the score. Weeden sent a grounder to Wright and was out at first. Harrington hit to Boultres who threw to first and the runner was out. Wallace sent the ball to center field for three bases and scored on Wolfgang's overthrow as the plate. Strands singled to the pitcher but Cargo was third out on a fly to Rising.

Lowell scored two runs in the latter half of the inning. Wolfgang got a free pass and Lavigne flied to Wallace. Zelzer walked. De Groff hit to Cargo and Wolfgang was thrown out at third. Rising knocked out a two-bagger to right field, scoring Zelzer and De Groff. Magee was third out on a fly to Morris.

Score—Lowell 6, Lynn 4.
Fifth Inning
Lynn failed to score in the first of the fifth. Keefe started off with a fly to Boultres and McGovern followed with a base on balls. The latter went to second when Wright dropped the ball. Logan flied to Rising, the latter making a pretty running catch. Rising threw the ball to Wolfgang and McGovern was out at second.

Lowell scored three runs in the latter half of the fifth inning. Wright opened with a single to center field and stole second. Boultres hit a high fly over third and was safe. Wright going to third. Boultres stole second. Nye singled to left field and Wright scored. Nye stole second. Wolfgang flied to Keefe and Boultres made a tally. Lavigne singled to left field and Nye scored. Zelzer struck out and Lavigne was caught while trying to steal second.

Score—Lowell 2, Lynn 4.
Sixth Inning
Lynn scored two runs in the sixth inning. Morris was the first man up. He went out on a fly to Magee. Weeden walked. Harrington hit to center field for three passes and Weeden scored. Wallace singled to center field and Harrington scored. Wallace tried to steal second and was thrown out. Strands singled to center field. Cargo hit to Wolfgang who threw to second, getting Strands.

Lowell failed to score in the latter half of the sixth. De Groff singled to right field and went to second on Rising's sacrifice. Magee hit to Harrington who threw to Cargo and the latter threw to Logan. The ball was sent back to Harrington who got De Groff at third. Magee going to second. Wright struck out.

Score—Lowell 2, Lynn 6.
Seventh Inning
Keefe singled. McGovern hit to Zelzer and was out at first. Keefe going to second. Logan drew a free pass. Morris hit to Nye who threw to Wolfgang getting Logan. Wolfgang sent the ball to first for a double play.

Lowell scored a run in the latter half of the seventh. Boultres opened with a fly to McGovern. Nye bunted safely. Wolfgang hit to Cargo who threw to Logan getting Nye at second. Wolfgang went to third on a passed ball. Lavigne singled, scoring Wolfgang. Zelzer hit to Morris who threw to Logan, getting Lavigne at second.

Score—Lowell 10, Lynn 8.
Eighth Inning
In the eighth inning Weeden hit to De Groff who dropped the ball. Harrington followed with a single to center field. Wallace singled to right field but Harrington was caught at second. Strands hit to Zelzer and was out at first. Cargo drew a free pass and Keefe followed with a single which scored Weeden and Wallace. At this point in the game Maybom relieved Zelzer. McGovern hit to Maybom and died at first.

De Groff started off the latter half of the inning by flying to Wallace. Rising did likewise. Magee went out, Harrington to McGovern.

Score—Lowell 10, Lynn 8.
Ninth Inning
Logan struck out. Morris flied to Magee. Weeden was the third man out. Maybom to Wright.

Lowell started well and the team looks great.
Capt. Boultres played a fine game at third. He also watched every player and was up and at 'em all the time.

As Cooney is "holding out," Wolfgang went in at short and despite the fact that he made one error, he played a good game. Wolfgang is a valuable man in all departments.
Lowell went south today but will be back with us Wednesday.
Wolfgang got Capt. McGovern's goat when he pulled the old "hiding the ball" trick on him.
Pop Rising played an excellent game. He made a beautiful catch in the field, and at the bat he was strong, getting two fine two-baggers—when they were needed too.
Morris at short for the Lynn team appeared to be rather slow at getting after the ball.
Wallace at center field for the visitors made a very spectacular catch when he drove for a hot one from De Groff's bat in the eighth. It was some catch and he was awarded a great hand. Wallace was also there with the willow.
Nye and De Groff, two of the new men on the team, look like regulars. They are experienced players and are there with the willow.

The Young Suffolk Club baseball team of West Centralville had a great week, as they defeated the young Lowell 5 to 3, the Young Detroit 6 to 5, and the Young Lowell 7 to 3 and Saturday afternoon defeated the champion "Get There" team by a score of 3 to 2. The pitching of Leo Dowling and the great stick work of John Garvey and Clarence Chenevert brought victory to the Young Suffolk Club. We would like to hear from any team under ten years of age. Write to our manager, Raymond Garvey, 66 Lilley avenue.

To be Consecrated Bishop Next Thursday

PROVIDENCE, April 22.—The arrangements for the consecration here of Rev. Austin Dowling, rector of S. S. Peter and Paul's cathedral of this city, as bishop of Des Moines, Ia., on Thursday next were completed last night.

The ecclesiastical gifts are said to be the most costly of gold with precious stones emblematic of the bishop's church colors. The crust of the bishop in enamel is a part of the work. The bishop's ever and tray have a hammered Gothic foliage and shield design. All the gifts are from Mr. and Mrs. William B. McElroy of Providence and their daughter.

The installation program will be elaborate. Bishop Harkin will be the consecrating bishop. Bishop James Davis, Davenport, Ia., will be the senior assistant, and Bishop Louis S. Walsh of Portland, Me. the junior assistant. Bishop J. Henry Thien of Lincoln, Neb., will attend.

The sermon will be preached by Archbishop James John Kenne of Dubuque, a friend of the bishop-elect. The consecration will be the third in S. S. Peter and Paul's cathedral in the past 25 years.

CARDS OF THANKS
We, the undersigned, take this means of expressing publicly our sincere thanks to our kind relatives, neighbors and friends, who by their many acts of kindness, words of consolation and beautiful floral offerings, helped to lighten the burden of sorrow in the death of our beloved son. To each and all we are especially grateful for help and will ever remember their sympathetic kindness. Signed,
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker and family.

What the Internal Bath Is Doing for Humanity
Under our present mode of living the large intestine (or colon) cannot get rid of all the waste that it accumulates—so it clogs up and then biliousness, constipation is the result, and that lack of desire to do, to work, to think.
This waste in the colon, as we all know, is extremely poisonous, and if neglected, the blood takes up the poison and brings on countless very serious diseases—appendicitis is directly caused by waste in the colon.
If the colon is kept clean and pure you will always feel bright and capable—never blue and nervous—always up to "concert pitch."

There is just one Internal Bath which will keep the colon as sweet and clean as Nature demands it to be for perfect health—that is the J. B. L. Cascade.
Many thousands are using it and doctors prescribing it with great success all over the world. It is now being shown and explained by the Riker-Jaynes Drug Store in Lowell.
Ask for booklet "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient."

A CARD
We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

REV. FR. DOWLING
To be Consecrated Bishop Next Thursday

PROVIDENCE, April 22.—The arrangements for the consecration here of Rev. Austin Dowling, rector of S. S. Peter and Paul's cathedral of this city, as bishop of Des Moines, Ia., on Thursday next were completed last night.

The ecclesiastical gifts are said to be the most costly of gold with precious stones emblematic of the bishop's church colors. The crust of the bishop in enamel is a part of the work. The bishop's ever and tray have a hammered Gothic foliage and shield design. All the gifts are from Mr. and Mrs. William B. McElroy of Providence and their daughter.

The installation program will be elaborate. Bishop Harkin will be the consecrating bishop. Bishop James Davis, Davenport, Ia., will be the senior assistant, and Bishop Louis S. Walsh of Portland, Me. the junior assistant. Bishop J. Henry Thien of Lincoln, Neb., will attend.

The sermon will be preached by Archbishop James John Kenne of Dubuque, a friend of the bishop-elect. The consecration will be the third in S. S. Peter and Paul's cathedral in the past 25 years.

CARDS OF THANKS
We, the undersigned, take this means of expressing publicly our sincere thanks to our kind relatives, neighbors and friends, who by their many acts of kindness, words of consolation and beautiful floral offerings, helped to lighten the burden of sorrow in the death of our beloved son. To each and all we are especially grateful for help and will ever remember their sympathetic kindness. Signed,
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker and family.

What the Internal Bath Is Doing for Humanity
Under our present mode of living the large intestine (or colon) cannot get rid of all the waste that it accumulates—so it clogs up and then biliousness, constipation is the result, and that lack of desire to do, to work, to think.
This waste in the colon, as we all know, is extremely poisonous, and if neglected, the blood takes up the poison and brings on countless very serious diseases—appendicitis is directly caused by waste in the colon.
If the colon is kept clean and pure you will always feel bright and capable—never blue and nervous—always up to "concert pitch."

There is just one Internal Bath which will keep the colon as sweet and clean as Nature demands it to be for perfect health—that is the J. B. L. Cascade.
Many thousands are using it and doctors prescribing it with great success all over the world. It is now being shown and explained by the Riker-Jaynes Drug Store in Lowell.
Ask for booklet "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient."

A CARD
We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or money refunded.

END OF THE MILL STRIKE

The mill strike through which we have passed developed no great excitement. It was entirely devoid of the turbulent features that marked the Lawrence strike, but it kept the mills and all their 20,000 operatives in idleness. If the mills needed a shut-down to even up with the market, it is all very well. They may have gained rather than lost by the suspension, but we do not believe so. We believe, and in fact we know, that some of the mills lost heavily by the strike. As for the operatives, the strike cost them about $400,000, and with the ten per cent. increase it will take them just forty weeks to regain what they have lost. They can then start to realize the advantage of the strike.

All this argues against strikes and in favor of other methods of settling industrial disputes. The Canadian method by which all such disputes must be settled before a strike or a lockout can be declared affords the best remedy yet devised. It is just what we need in this state in order to prevent professional agitators from coming along and working up a strike that will cause a very general suspension of business in a large number of factories. It would help the labor organizations as well as the mills, and there is no reason why we should not have it this year. Such an arrangement would throw the board of arbitration and conciliation out of a job but that board has long ago outlived its usefulness.

The public street parade, marking the close of the strike was a very orderly and creditable demonstration. Turnouts of that kind will hurt nobody and will never be objected to by anybody.

The Greek operatives of Lowell will hereafter be respected on account of their conservative course during the mill strike. They avoided all demonstrations where trouble might result and hence they have convinced the people of Lowell that they are not ready to form the tail to any revolutionary kite.

THE TURCO-ITALIAN WAR

The determination of Italy to force the entrance to the Dardanelles is difficult to understand. The aim may be to bring Turkey to terms and thus hasten peace or else to cause the European powers to interpose and settle the trouble. Italy finds it difficult to hold Tripoli as the Turks and Arabs keep up a continued resistance wherever they can. The Dardanelles is overlooked by high hills on which batteries are mounted and the waters are thickly set with mines so that Italy assumes serious risks when she enters the Bosphorus. Should the Italian fleet attempt to blockade Constantinople, Turkey might not be able to make much resistance, but on the other hand Italy would never be able to land troops and hold the advantage she had won. The Turks are good fighters on land but they have no fleet to protect their capital. There are forts, however, that might damage an attacking fleet, but the European powers scarcely give Italy the credit for having determined upon such a large undertaking. The fact appears to be that Italy would be glad to find some honorable means of ending the war, but Turkey is not ready to accept her terms, believing that Italy cannot force her to accept. It is this point perhaps that is involved in the Italian attack upon the Dardanelles.

WORKING OVERTIME

The Cunard liner Carpathia had but one wireless operator aboard, and had he not worked overtime he would not have received the call from the Titanic. He was ten minutes at his post after the time at which he was supposed to quit, and but for his presence the message would not have been caught.

In this there is a lesson for young men who hold responsible positions. He who quits a few minutes before the appointed time is not nearly so valuable, other things being equal, as he who waits a little longer. It is only a matter of minutes but sometimes as in the case quoted a matter of minutes may save numerous lives.

The city of Newark, N. J., has adopted a new ordinance imposing a penalty for anyone who misuses the auto horn on the public streets. It requires that every automobile shall be equipped with an adequate signal and defines such a signal as one producing an "abrupt note, sufficiently loud to be heard under all conditions of traffic," but restricts its use to times when it is "necessary as a warning of danger."

The senate committee has elicited enough damaging testimony from Lema and others to prove beyond a doubt that but for the mania for speed urged upon Captain Smith by an official of the company, ordinary precaution against accidents would have been adopted. As it was not only Lema but the captain seemed satisfied to take the desperate chance. The disaster is the inevitable result.

The Marconi wireless system must be regulated by law to prevent a lot of amateurs from sending out false and misleading messages that sometimes make it impossible for agencies to distinguish the false from the genuine. The time will come when there will be a law against the sending out of any message that would interfere with the legitimate use of the system by land or sea.

The "women first rule" was carried to an absurd extreme in sending out the lifeboats from the Titanic. Some were sent off not half filled while men were begging an opportunity to get in. But for this blunder 350 additional might have been saved.

This annual hike by the military companies serves only to leave some of them so lame that they will be of little use for several weeks. Some may be injured for life by the struggle to beat their competitors.

The Titanic brought with her to the depths many real heroes and among these the names of Major Butt, John Jacob Astor, Jacques Futrelle, Isidor Straus, George B. Widener and many others.

Scratching is Dangerous

People afflicted with eczema and other skin troubles try to get relief by scratching, which not only aggravates the trouble, but also increases the risk of infection. Apply a little Cadum, and the itching will stop. Cadum is soothing and healing to an inflamed, irritated or diseased skin. It is antiseptic, and when applied to a scratch, sore or wound, prevents infection from disease germs. It acts quickly upon eczema, pimples, sores, ulcers, rash, rough skin, scalp sores, chafings, itching piles, etc. Of druggists, 10c and 25c per box.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

This will be a novelty week at Keith's for on the bill are certain acts that have never been witnessed in Lowell before, either by good or bad performers. Prominent among them are the four Konez brothers direct from Europe with an act new to all America. They are manipulators of the "diable," the rolling hoop and the celebrated but seldom seen boomerang. Thousands have used the expression, "It acts like a boomerang," and now know how the expression originated. The Konez brothers give a practical demonstration of how the popular expression originated. Fay, Two Coleys and Fay present an act entitled "From Uncle Tom's Cabin to Vandeville," and from the little one gets an idea of the broad range of entertainment offered. They give a little of everything that is entertaining. A female quartet is a novelty for there are few of them before the public but the Rosemary Girls are a quartet specially selected from 1000 candidates and their singing is most pleasing. Moore and Elliott offer a decidedly good comedy sketch entitled "A Matrimonial Substitute," which is replete with laughs. Schack and Berol are beautiful comedians and singers and dancers. John T. Barry, the man with the hats, presents an entire drama introducing a variety of characters and the only change of costume being in hats. He used every old kind of a hat and the great assistance of the hat in depicting the characters is remarkable. Blinn Morris, the American Cesta Tilley, is a singer of pleasing character songs, making striking changes. Voltaire and Lumiere are clever, acrobatic comedians with a budget of funny stunts.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Surprise Week" at the Merrimack Square theatre promises to provide excellent amusement for the thousands of patrons who weekly visit this popular playhouse. The bill will be one of unusual excellence, selected by Manager Carroll after looking over a field of many well-known and high-class entertainers and including some of the different performers are not to be announced, but the assurance is given that all are first-class in their respective lines and in combination will surely give thorough enjoyment. One of the acts recently concluded a successful engagement at Hammerstein's New York theatre, a fact in itself that should assure everyone who attends that the offering will be far above the average. The other contributors to the bill will provide entertainment in keeping with the high standard established by the headliner. The photo-plays for the first three days of the week will again be featured by some of the biggest and best films gotten out by the leading manufacturers of this and foreign countries. The views, also, will be especially interesting and include some that have to do with the present day events that are attracting the attention of the whole world. The Merrimack Square theatre concert orchestra, Phil M. Loderman, musical director, will feature selections from one of the popular operas on Friday night. Patrons of this theatre who desire to have their favorite seats reserved for them from week to week are asked to have their names placed on the subscription list so that the management can always assure them of their desired locations in the theatre. It costs no more. Why not try it? Call box office, 2653.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

By Lowell Reform Club Corporation

The thirty-second annual election of officers of the Lowell Reform Club Corporation took place at Odd Fellows temple, Middlesex street, Sunday afternoon, April 21st, President E. M. Bowers in the chair. Previous to the election of the officers came the annual report of the clerk, the treasurer and the board of auditors. The clerk's report showed twelve regular and three special meetings of the directors, all of which were well attended. The annual report of the treasurer greatly interested and encouraged every member of the corporation. It showed the corporation to be in a good condition financially, all bills paid and a handsome net balance remaining in the treasury, notwithstanding the fact that many interior repairs have been made on the corporation's real estate. The building fund is gaining rapidly and has now reached between eleven and twelve thousand dollars. This, with the local funds, together with the club's furniture and furnishings places the corporation upon a very strong financial basis.

E. M. BOWERS,
Pres. Lowell Reform Club Corporation

President Edward M. Bowers, Clerk John J. Dunkerley and Treasurer Robert J. Fullerton were again unanimously elected. Fourteen successive years' service as president is Mr. Bowers' record in the Reform club corporation.

Mr. Bowers with much feeling and in well chosen words thanked the members of the corporation for the generous expression of confidence reposed in him. He spoke of the loyalty, good will and self-sacrificing devotion of the members of the corporation. "All have worked together," said the president, "in season and out of season. The finances have been well cared for, harmony has prevailed in every department of our society's work and it is especially gratifying to me to know that you are standing by me, that you appreciate my efforts, however feeble they may have been. You have honored me to office of honor and trust. I have tried to fill this office as best I could, and, with what degree of success, that is for you to say. I enter today upon my fourteenth year as president of the corporation, nearly half of its life I have been at its head. I have been eight terms, or four years president of the club and seven years its treasurer.

As treasurer of the club, I have tried to conduct that department economically, and we have a good balance there. Now a word as to the treasurer's report of the corporation. Can I speak too highly of Mr. Robert J. Fullerton's work? He has been our treasurer now for many years, and his devotion to this work, his generosity and self sacrifice cannot be overestimated. Such men as he are among the corporation's most valuable assets. I must not forget our clerk, John J. Dunkerley. What a devoted little man he has been all these years! I would be delighted in my duty at this time did I not express the corporation's high appreciation of his splendid work, his long service, as clerk of the corporation; his many years as financial secretary of the club, without a salary. He has graced and honored every position he has filled from president down.

The board of government elected for the year, President, Edward M. Bowers, treasurer, R. J. Fullerton; clerk, John J. Dunkerley; directors, E. M. Bowers, chairman; Geo. N. Gardner, John Preston, Frank Burns, Claude Lightbown, Charles H. Dodge, Thomas Sanders, Wm. H. Forbes, John Hasty and Thomas Noonan.

At the close of the election, President Bowers appointed the following standing committees from the directors for the ensuing year: Lands and buildings, George N. Gardner, Frank Burns and John Preston; finance and auditing, Claude Lightbown, Wm. H. Forbes and Thomas Sanders; ways and means, Thomas Noonan, Charles H. Dodge and John Hasty.

The Lowell Reform club corporation was organized April 3, 1880, and has for its object the accumulation of a fund for the members to build or to purchase for themselves a suitable building for the promotion of temperance, as set out in the articles of the association. The corporation secured a charter on April 21st of the same year.

The first board of government elected by the corporation in 1880 was: Trustees, Hon. George A. Alden, Hon. Charles A. Stolt, Rev. C. D. Barrows, D. D., Mr. John F. Kimball and Mr. Jacob Rogers. President, John Stolt; treasurer, John Chickering; clerk, Joseph W. Tapley, with a board of nine directors including the president.

The next meeting of the Reform club will be held Tuesday evening, April 23d, when important matters are to come before the body. The first meeting of the directors of the corporation for 1912 will take place next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. at the room in Odd Fellows temple.

DIVISION 8, A. O. H.

TO OBSERVE ITS 32ND ANNIVERSARY TONIGHT

Division 8, A. O. H., will observe its 32nd anniversary at its hall this evening, May 9, O'Donnell and Alderman Barrett will deliver addresses and John W. McElroy will preside. Division 8 is one of the most active and energetic divisions in the state, and its membership is still growing. A large meeting is expected tonight.

ANDY FLANNIGAN

In Main Bout at Lowell S. and A. Club

Eddy Flynn, who defeated Billy Nixon at the Lowell Social and Athletic club last Friday evening will appear at this week's meeting of the organization in the main bout. He will meet Andy Flannigan of Boston who is considered one of the best lightweights. In defeating a man of Nixon's calibre Flynn has added much to his reputation and he is now heralded as one of the few real lightweights in this part of the country. He gave one of the best exhibitions that has been seen in Lowell in many years at last week's meeting. With the exception of the first few rounds he was the aggressor at all times. He boxed cleverly and landed some very hard blows. In the 16th when the bout ended he had the fast Nixon at his mercy and all but out. After the bout Flynn said that as Matchmaker Gardner informed him before the fight started that the winner would be matched against Flannigan, he wanted to win, and that he entered the fight with that determination. He is confident that he can duplicate his work against his man this week. In Flannigan, the members will see a very fast and scientific boxer. He has a great list of wins to his credit and as he started in training last week for the meeting Friday night he expects to be in the best of condition. The semi-final this week will introduce two local boys who are well acquainted with the game and are fine mixers. These are Young Cox of Centerville and Charlie Anastas of the Greek champion. Both have been seen in the squared circle before and their ability is well known. This bout is scheduled to go eight rounds. Two preliminaries will be given. In the first, Gardner Brooks of Sweden Village will meet Eddie Donnellan of the Manhattan club, two great rivals. Brooks has appeared at the club on six different occasions and has won all his matches. In Young Donnellan he will meet a boy who has been anxious to meet him for the past few months and one who has engaged in a real battle with him in his younger days. As both are from the same vicinity there is great rivalry to see who will be the champion of the South end of the city. The other preliminary will be furnished by Bert Silvester of Lawrence and Young Kellner of Belvidere, two willing boxers. The meeting will be held on Friday night in Mathew hall.

A MONSTER SAFE

A large, new safe from the Morse Safe company of Boston was installed in the main office of the store which the C. B. Coburn Co. is now occupying in Market street. Quite a large crowd gathered to watch the men at work and every day, now things are arriving in that store and both office and sales clerks are ever on the alert to please customers. They have an equipment now that rivals in many ways that with which they were supplied in the old store, before the fire. Of course, fine fixtures are at present out of the question, but the C. B. Coburn Co. promise that when they finally open the doors of their new store, the public will see one of the most convenient and attractive stores in the state.

WILLIAM MARCONI

Inventor of System of Wireless Telegraphy

NEW YORK, April 22.—William Marconi, the inventor of the system of wireless telegraphy that took the Carpathia to the rescue of the survivors of the Titanic, is an earnest advocate of international regulation of wireless messages so that the device can be made more certain. So many electric flashes were started through the air immediately after the Titanic sank that there was much confusion, and important messages were lost or delayed.

J. BRUCE ISMAY, HEAD OF THE WHITE STAR LINE

NEW YORK, April 22.—J. Bruce Ismay, the managing director of the White Star line and the principal owner of the Titanic, who was a passenger on the ill-fated boat and was saved from the wreck, has been severely censured by the press and public for his part in the tragedy. Many have argued that he should have stayed with the boat, as the captain and other principal officers did, and it has also been asserted that his presence on the boat was responsible for its going ahead at full speed through a sea known to be filled with icebergs. In his testimony before the senate investigating committee Mr. Ismay denied that he was responsible for the speed of the craft, but he admitted that it was making about twenty-six miles an hour, only a trifle less than its maximum speed. He explained his entering a lifeboat by saying that when the boat was about to be lowered there was no

DEATHS

PICARD—Telephore Picard, aged 52 years, 9 mos. and 9 days, died Saturday at his late home, 18 Woodbury street. He is survived by a wife and six children, Mesdames George Gagnon, Henri Duprez and the Misses Helena, Laurenda and Eliza, and Ralph Picard. He was a prominent member of Court Samuel de Champlain, F. of A.

JESSIE PEUCHEN MAJOR PEUCHEN MRS. PEUCHEN ALAN PEUCHEN

CANADIAN OFFICER SAYS LIFEBOAT CARRIED NINETEEN WOMEN AND THREE MEN

TORONTO, Canada, April 22.—Major Arthur Peuchen of the Queen's rifles was a passenger on the Titanic and escaped in a lifeboat. He severely censures J. Bruce Ismay and other officials of the White Star line and those in charge of the wrecked liner. Major Peuchen says that he helped lower several boats and that after one was in the water it was found that it did not have enough gaffers in it, and when he said that he was a yachtsman, he was ordered to take command. He said down a rope fifty or sixty feet to the boat, which he found had nineteen women and two of the ship's crew in it. The boat was intended to carry sixty. He protested against leaving the ship until the boat was filled, but it was pushed away. Major Peuchen did not hesitate to express frankly his condemnation of J. Bruce Ismay. "I have heard that Ismay explained his presence aboard one of the lifeboats by saying he had to get in it to pull an oar," he said. "Well, when the boat in which he was saved was picked up by the Carpathia, I saw it, and I will say that Ismay was not pulling an oar. His boat contained a much larger number of men than women, and Ismay was sitting idly in it when the Carpathia reached its side. Ismay was not helping in any way. Furthermore, when he got aboard the Carpathia he at once announced that he wanted food immediately and said: 'I am Ismay.' Not once did Ismay make a single inquiry as to the lives, the health or the condition of the patrons of his White Star line, who were lying about in desperate shape on the Carpathia. No. He demanded, and was given a room to himself. He got the surgeon's room. He had a sign put on the door—'Don't Knock.'"

SALLEE BRESNAHAN EVANS

PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

MANAGER OF ST. LOUIS NATIONALS AND TWO OF HIS STARS

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—As was the case this time last season, Roger Bresnahan and his Cardinals are stirring up things in the National league. The team started on its swing around the western circuit with distinctly better prospects than the club encountered last year. At the start of last season the team encountered heartbreaking setbacks through injuries to them, but quickly rallied and made a splendid eastern trip. This year, with no bad breaks to mar the outlook and the men all fighting like tigers for a place near the top, the team has the best outlook confronting it that it has enjoyed at any time since the regime of Roger Bresnahan. The Cards have exactly the same team as in 1911, with the exception of one or two new pitchers. Roger says if "Slim" Sallee, his star southpaw, keeps to be there at the finish, in good shape St. Louis will be very prominent on the baseball map all season. Evans, the Cards' brilliant young fielder, is the batting hero of the team this spring. His timely wallows have won a few games. In view of the fact that Bresnahan has had his men playing together for three years, and all youngsters at that, the Cards ought to be there at the finish.

FATE OF THE TITANIC

Subject of Sermons--Memorial Services and Special Music

Several of the pastors of local churches preached yesterday on the wreck of the Titanic and in some cases the services were in the nature of a memorial of the victims of the disaster.

At the evening service at the Pawtucket church, Sunday evening, Mrs. G. R. Park, Mrs. A. T. Howe, Mr. E. S. Howe and Mr. C. Mason sang appropriate selections and Rev. P. G. Alger drew lessons from the wreck of the Titanic, taking his text from 11 Cor. 12:25, "In peril of waters." In part he said:

"The wreck of the Titanic and the consequent loss of life is probably the greatest maritime disaster in the history of steamship travel, and removed as we are by distance from the scene of the disaster, we cannot contemplate it without a sense of horror. And yet it is at times beneficial to ponder on the disasters of life.

"This is a time for us to reflect upon the fact that when we separate from our friends, it may be for the last time. When you leave your home, you expect to return at the appointed time, but if you reflect upon the matter, you are not at all sure of your return. When the first boatloads of women and children left the Titanic they expected that the other boats would take off their husbands, brothers and fathers. Undoubtedly their husbands in the lifeboats were lessened by their anticipation of later meeting those from whom they were suddenly separated. And on the Carpathia they entertained the hope that they would be picked up by some other vessel and that they would meet them after arriving in New York. But, alas, this was not to be. As St. James says: 'We know not what shall be in the morning.'"

"Another lesson we may take to heart is this: Sumptuous surroundings and great wealth are no absolute security against disaster on sea or land.

"WHERE MANHOOD PERISHED NOT"

Where cross the lines of forty north
and fifty-fourteen west
There rolls a wild and greedy sea
With death upon its crest.
No stone or wreath from human hands,
Will ever mark the spot
Where fifteen hundred men went down,
But Manhood perished not.

Old Ocean takes but little heed
Of human tears or woe.
No shafts adorn the ocean graves,
Nor weeping willows grow.
Nor is there need of marble slab
To keep in mind the spot
Where noble men went down to death
But Manhood perished not!

Those men who looked on death and smiled
And trod the crumbling deck,
Have saved much more than precious lives
From out that awful wreck.
Though countless joys and hopes and fears
Were shattered at a breath,
'Tis something that the name of Man
Did not go down to death.

'Tis not an easy thing to die,
Even in the open air,
Twelve hundred miles from home and friends,
In a shroud of black despair.
A wreath to crown the brow of man,
And hide a former blot
Will ever blossom o'er the waves
Where Manhood perished not.

HARVEY F. THEW.

—In the N. Y. Herald.

and every sacrifice made that properly fell on one charged, as he would feel himself charged, with responsibility for the rescue of others.

It is difficult to realize that the "Titanic," which the men on board in the hour of peril refused to believe was sinkable, has gone to "the cemetery of dead ships," and with so much human freight aboard. But there is to be a resurrection morn. "The sea shall give up its dead." They shall come forth, the just and the unjust. For some a day of joy, for others a day of sorrow; a day of light, a day of darkness. Does not Jesus speak to us as He did to men two thousand years ago. "Watch! And what I say unto you, I say unto all: Watch. Be ye also ready."

Memorial Service

At the First Baptist church Sunday evening a memorial service was held and the sermon and music had special reference to the sea tragedy.

Mr. Kershaw, the organist, played Chopin's funeral march and Mrs. W. H. Peppel sang "Harbor Bells."

The pastor, Rev. S. W. Cummings, preached an eloquent and impressive sermon on the Titanic disaster. He said it was a long stretch from the Clermont built by Robert Fulton in 1807 to the floating hotels of the present day. Speaking of the tragedy, he said:

This greatest of modern sea tragedies has fallen with stunning effect upon the people of America and Europe. Never has there been a catastrophe at sea of such magnitude and including among the lost so many people widely known. John J. Astor, many times a millionaire, Mr. Hays, president of a great railroad system, Major Butt, aide to President Taft, Wm. T. Stead of "Review of Reviews" fame, but illustrate the long list. We can well take the time tonight to seek to glean some points from this terrible disaster that are worthy of notice and which emphasize important lessons.

In the first place we are thrilled and comforted by the display of heroism and self-sacrifice shown by captain, officers, men and women passengers, and crew. The best traditions of the sea have been preserved and in this moment of testing men vied with each other in willing sacrifice of self on behalf of those least able to help themselves. Scores of wives were placed in boats while husbands stayed behind to die. Among such can be named Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Fattelle, both successful writers, and Mr. and Mrs. George Widener, members of the noted Philadelphia family of financiers. There were some women, Mrs. Leador Straus among them, who preferred to face death with their husbands to life without them. Mrs.

Straus at the last said, "We have gone too long together to be parted now" and in death they were not divided.

John Jacob Astor proved that a man could be one of the richest land owners in America and yet a hero. He said goodbye to his young wife, and then helped place other women in the boats and died a man's death. Major Butt did valiant service. Who can remain untouched in reading the account of his parting with an old friend, Miss Young, and the last woman to leave the doomed ship; or fail to feel the lump rise in the throat in noting his last words spoken to her bravely and with a smile: "Goodbye Miss Young, will you kindly remember me to all the folks back home." Nor shall we forget those 700 men of the crew who went down. Their names are not known to the world as those are of the first cabin passengers, but we honor them as men just the same. We shall also place on our hero roll the men who made up the band of the ship. At the last they sought to inspire courage in others through their music. As those in the boats looked back they saw the Titanic with all her lights lighted and heard her band play "Nearer, My God, to Thee." We feel this was a fitting coronation hymn.

BOULEVARD BILL

To Come Up in Senate
Wednesday

The bill relative to the proposed boulevard between Lowell and Lawrence will come before the senate on Wednesday for its second reading. The Lowell board of trade and the Lowell Automobile league instituted the bill.

A hearing was given on the original measure by the committee on roads and bridges but that body gave the petitioners leave to withdraw, but agreed that something should be done to complete the highway. Representative Otis W. Butler of this city is in charge of the bill at the present time. Senator Erson B. Barlow was successful in securing the acceptance of a substitute bill placing the entire cost of the highway on the state and this bill was referred by the senate to the committee on ways and means of which Sen. Frank P. Bennett of Saugus, whose district also includes a portion of Lowell, is chairman. Sen. Bennett has assured the Lowell men that he will favor a reasonable measure whereby this highway can be constructed at once. He recorded himself in favor of the Lowell men's first plan. The new measure calls for $75,000 to be spent by the state highway commission under a state appropriation. Of this total the two counties are to contribute about $10,000, or about one-quarter.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

At the services at the Congregational church Rev. William C. H. Moe, spoke on the Titanic disaster. Richard Picken, aged 15 years, while riding a bicycle on the boulevard Friday morning came near meeting with a serious accident. The young lad was just learning to ride and he lost control of the wheel and collided with a wagon that was coming in the opposite direction. The bicycle was badly damaged but young Picken escaped without injuries.

Frank E. Elckford was selected as a candidate from West Chelmsford at an informal caucus held on Wednesday evening, to contest the vacancy now existing on the board of selectmen. This makes two official candidates in the field, which number is likely to be increased by the time of the closing of the nominations.

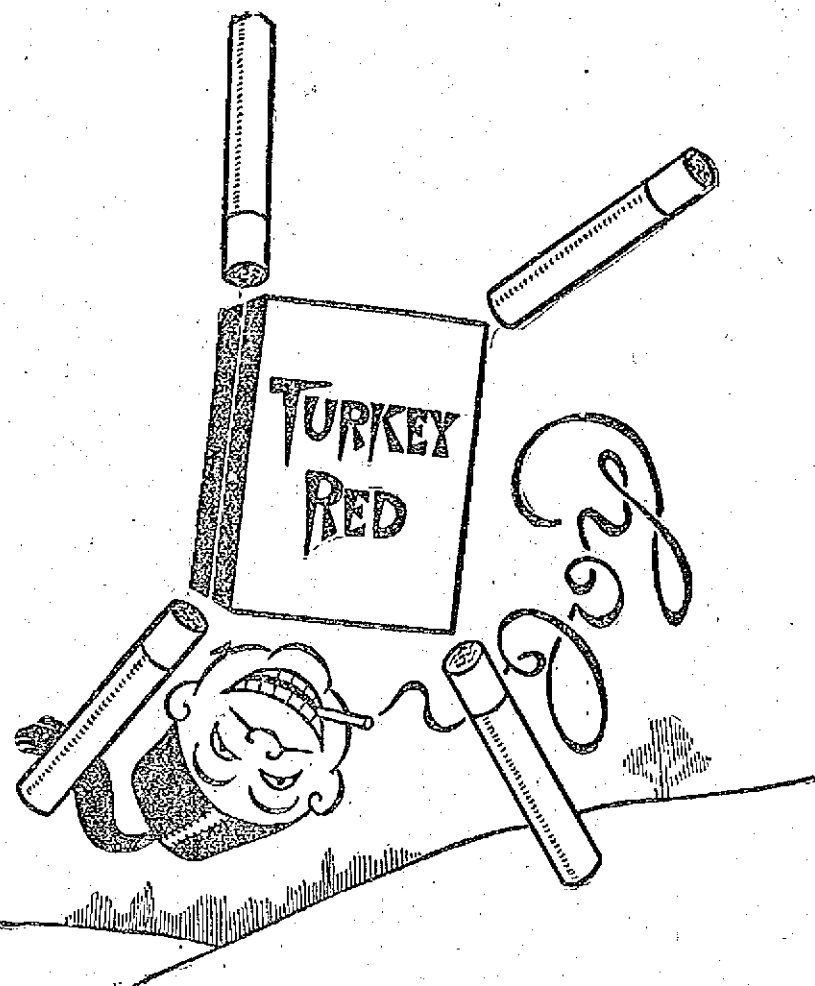

Mrs. Herbert Mutch of Newburyport is now visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. Hadley, on Gay street. Little Alice Atwood, celebrated the tenth anniversary of her birth at her home on the Groton road last Saturday. The event was of a most pleasant nature and was attended by quite a number of her young friends, who remembered Alice with many tokens of this happy occasion.

CHIMNEY FIRE

CAUSED AN ALARM FROM BOX FORTY-THREE

An alarm from box 43 at 6.13 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a building at 84 Elm street where a chimney fire was in progress. The alarm was a needless one, there being more smoke than fire. The building is owned by James H. McDermott.

Early yesterday morning there was a telephone alarm for a grass fire in upper Gorham street. The blaze, however, was extinguished before any damage was done.
